Cohn, Lawton Give Testimony For McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP) — Roy M. Cohn came to the defense of his former boss, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), today as McCarthy finished testifying in his own behalf at Senate committee hearings on charges of censurable conduct.

The 27-year-old Cohn, former chief counsel to McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee, firmly backed the Wisconsin senator's stand that a controversial 2¼ page "FBI letter" was not a classified or secret document when it came into McCarthy's possession in 1953.

One of the main censure charges against McCarthy is that he was a party to a violation of the law when, by his own account, he accepted the "personal and confidential" document from an Army Intelligence officer who took it from the Pentagon's files.

Another witness today testified Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker showed an "antagonistic" attitude toward McCarthy three months before McCarthy allegedly "abused" the general while questioning him about Army handling of cases involving suspected Communists.

This opinion came from retired Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, who said he concluded Zwicker was antagonistic toward McCarthy on the basis of a conversation he had with Zwicker in late November or early December, 1953.

Lawton had refused to testify on this point earlier in the week and the McCarthy side charged the Pentagon with "gagging" him, a charge the Pentagon denied. Yesterday Secretary of Defense Wilson said Lawton could testify on points "not clearly prohibited" by President Eisenhower's executive secrecy order of last May 17.

Wilson's ruling also encouraged Zwicker to give his side of the story to the special Senate committee investigating a variety of charges against McCarthy. Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) announced Zwicker will be heard Monday and said he expects the public hearings to end then.

Testimony on the now-famous 2¼-page "FBI letter" dominated today's session, with McCarthy contending it bore no official secrecy stamp and declaring that, in any case, he had both the right and the duty to use such FBI material on possible subversion.

Cohn, who was a Justice Department official before he joined McCarthy's staff, testified the Wisconsin lawmaker was dead right about the secrecy label. He said secret documents always are identified as such by a rubber stamp, while the "letter" in question bore

U. S. General On Quemoy, Inspects Defense Bastion

QUEMOY, Sept. 11 (AP) — U. S. Maj. Gen. William Chase arrived today to inspect the Red-shelled defenses of this island outpost of Nationalist China shortly after Nationalist bombers struck new blows at 100,000 Reds reported massing around nearby Amoy.

The visit by the head of the U.S. Military Advisory Group to Nationalist China bolstered the impression in this area that the United States has a very strong interest in Nationalist retention of Quemoy, close by the Red China mainland.

It is considered possible that the United States has decided to give the Nationalists all reasonable aid short of military action in protecting offshore islands while not entering into any commitment for intervention if they are attacked.

The Nationalist commander, Gen. Liu Yu-chuang, with whom Gen. Chase will confer, told visiting newsmen he believed the 100,000 Russian-equipped Chinese Communists reported in the Amoy area "might not dare invade."

Liu, in charge of 30,000 men, feels the Reds have been deterred by the air and artillery retaliation of the Nationalists after the Reds began hurling the first of 10,000 shells at Quemoy Sept. 3.

A Nationalist communique said heavy bombers, accompanied by jets, pounded military targets at 2 a.m. today on Amoy. It was the first such claim of dropping heavy bombs during six straight days of retaliatory attacks.

At Taipeh today, the Nationalists issued a warning that any foreign ships entering Amoy port would do so at their own risk. Nationalist planes bombed and strafed the British freighter Inchkilda during an attack on Amoy earlier this week. No Britons were hurt.

Two Desperate Slayers Elude Huge Dragnet

Officers Fail To Halt Condemned Felons' Flight

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 11 (AP) — Two condemned murderers, strangers to Mississippi, remained out of sight more than 30 hours after they fled Hinds County jail death row and vanished into early morning confusion in a bright red pickup truck.

Their spectacular dash to freedom from the "escape-proof" jail was dotted with acid-throwing, bashed-in heads and stolen vehicles.

A net of heavily armed law enforcement officers was thrown up immediately with orders to "use any means" to capture the killers; but the pair apparently eluded the roadblocks.

The two escapees, both facing death in the electric chair, are:

A highway patrol spokesman said the entire state had been alerted and roadblocks were established on all main highways and some secondary roads.

Three spotter airplanes were in the air and bloodhounds were held in readiness for the moment the elusive red pickup truck is found.

It was his opinion the hunted pair either is lost or very shrewd.

"They either hid that truck or still are with it. Neither man has lived in Mississippi very long—out of prison walls," he said.

Residents of the area north of Jackson to Canton, where the fleeing men were believed to be headed, were warned not to admit strangers to their homes or to pick up hitchhikers.

Men in isolated farm homes locked their doors and windows and kept loaded shotguns within reach at night.

Others joined the posse that is combing the labyrinth of dirt roads that the convicts could have taken.

Though statewide, the search is concentrated in the area between Jackson and Canton in Madison County and along the Natchez Trace to Carthage.

Meanwhile, Jackson police were taking no chances. They warned Jacksonians of the possibility that the two men could have circled back into the city or that they never left town.

The jail break apparently began Thursday night. Gallego refused to return to his cell after leaving the showers.

Jailer J. C. Landrum was alone in the fifth-floor prison, so he left Gallego in the passageway that separates his cell from the room containing the levers controlling the cell doors.

Gallego spent the night in the passageway. There was no way he could get out.

When Landrum returned with breakfast Friday morning, Gallego tossed cleaning fluid into his eyes and bashed in his head with a piece of angle iron ripped from his bunk.

After Landrum fell unconscious and bleeding, Gallego reached through the bars, retrieved the keys and released himself and Sorber. A third man in death row remained in his cell.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Landrum, who

Former Assistant FHA Director Is Ousted From Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration said today it has fired Andrew Frost, once assistant FHA director for New Mexico, after a special investigation into charges he accepted favors, including "girlie parties," from building contractors.

In a brief announcement of Frost's removal, effective Sept. 9, the FHA gave no indication of its findings on the favors charges. Frost, invoking the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination, declined to answer questions about them when he appeared before the Senate Banking Committee in July, a few days after being suspended.

Frost was not immediately reached for comment.

The FHA also announced a showdown fight this month with backers of the multimillion-dollar Linwood Park apartment project near Fort Lee, N. J., in a drive to collect the first slice of more than 40 million dollars in "windfall" profits alleged to have been made throughout the country on government-backed loans, for new apartments.

Despite a threatened court fight, the agency called a meeting Sept. 22 of preferred stockholders in 13 corporations comprising Linwood, Inc. The announced purpose is to unseat the present management and replace it with directors willing to return $2,426,821 which the gov-

Giant Typhoon Moving Slowly Toward Japan

TOKYO, Sunday, Sept. 12—UP—One of the biggest typhoons in history crawled slowly through the Pacific Ocean toward Japan Sunday and Japanese officials rushed preparations to meet a possible catastrophe.

The U. S. air weather central said typhoon June, with its devastating 115-mile-and-hour winds, will hit Kyushu, Japan's southern island, Monday morning.

The storm is expected to swirl through Kyushu and western Honshu, Japan's main island. Forecasters said the storm will probably blow itself out in the sea of Japan before hitting Korea or Siberia. However, weathermen said the storm may suddenly change its course and threaten the sprawling Tokyo-Yokohama area.

Hiroshi Ito, chief forecaster for Japan's central meterological observatory, called an emergency meeting Saturday of police, defense shipping and Red Cross officials to prepare for the coming of the storm. Ito warned the group no part of Japan can be considered safe.

In Tokyo, a special relief commission was set up and 9,000 workers were mobilized into disaster units.

The Japan Red Cross ordered its local chapters throughout the country to prepare ambulances, rescue boats, emergency power generators, medicine and clothing for immediate use.

The storm was moving northwest at eight miles per hour and was about 500 miles off Kyushu early Sunday. Weather planes estimated typhoon June's width at 500 miles with howling winds of 115-miles-an-hour at its center.

Premier Fires Army Chief In Viet Nam Row

SAIGON, Indochina, Sept. 11 (AP) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem fired his army chief of staff today in a sudden climax to mounting post-Geneva political warfare between rival anti-Communist factions in Viet Nam.

The Premier ordered Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, chief of the general staff since 1952, to take a plane to Paris tomorrow for "six months study in France." Friends of the general said he would not obey.

Diem's announcement caused a sensation in Saigon and there was concern that the struggle between the two leaders might lead to disorders.

There were reports Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, former head of Vietnamese troops in the central sector, has refused Diem's order to take over Hinh's command and has been placed under arrest.

The major policy differences at stake apparently center on how to keep the Communist-led Vietminh forces in the North Viet Nam occupation area from taking over the southern zone as well. The country was split by the armistice that took effect last month.

Anti-Diem elements argue that what they consider a "strong" regime—on the model of Syngman Rhee's South Korean government—alone can stave off Red victory in elections set for next year under the truce pact. Some leaders opposed to Diem believe he must be replaced by force if necessary to put into effect measures that will stop Communist infiltration.

Backers of Hinh deny that he is plotting against the government, but say indignantly that he will not obey the order to fly to Paris. They concede there are deep differences between Hinh and Diem.

(In Paris, the French News Agency said Hinh was at odds with the religious-military sects of Viet Nam in wanting a unified national army. The agency quoted "political circles" in Saigon as saying Hinh is lukewarm toward Bao Dai, Viet Nam chief of state

Rep. Roosevelt Launches Fight For Governor

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 11—UP—Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late President, kicked off an all-out fight with former Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman Saturday for the democratic nomination for governor of New York.

Roosevelt told a cheering state CIO convention that he would carry his candidacy to the floor of the state Democratic convention Sept. 21 in New York city. He said he had rejected pleas from party "bosses" to withdraw from the race.

Roosevelt's action indicated a sharp split in top New York Democratic ranks. Previously, state chairman Richard H. Balch and national committeeman Carmine de Sapio formally had pledged their support to Harriman, with Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.) and New York Mayor Robert Wagner concurring.

The winner is expected to face Sen. Irving M. Ives, who announced earlier this week that he was willing to accept the GOP nomination for governor. Ives won the endorsement of the state Republican executive committee after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey announced that he would not seek a fourth term.

Roosevelt told the CIO convention that his name "will be presented at the convention."

The youthful New York city congressman also said had received pledges from former President Harry Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson to campaign for him "if I am the nominee."

Nelson, a department store executive, was returning home from a fishing trip. He was alone in the car. The crash occurred at Courtland, five miles south of here.

Children Given Crime For Dime In Comic Books

By YVONNE BRETT HERRON
(State Editor)

The harm that ten cents can do, in the form of some comic books, is one that untold amounts of money cannot erase.

Readily available for children in the Twin Cities are more than 200 locations, in both Monroe and West Monroe, where for ten cents a youngster can purchase a so-called comic book filled with sordid pictures, slang expressions and crime depictions of every nature.

Beer, wine, whiskey, marijuana and narcotics in the Twin Cities is under the watchful eye of local authorities, but comic books are displayed in "eye-catching spots" so that youngsters can't miss seeing them.

Are comic books harmful?

Complaints have not been lodged against really humorous comic books, such as the animal cartoons of Walt Disney, autobiographies of famous individuals, or the book form of certain regular newspaper cartoon strips.

Complaints are against the lurid, cheap comic books which deal in crime, sex sadism, necrophilia and nearly everything else sensational. The U. S. senate judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency has before it at the present time the question of harmful comic books. Senator Estes Kefauver said recently "the question of good taste as evidenced by certain publishers through their lurid covers and ghastly content is entirely against the moral future of the children."

One comic book publisher who recently appeared before the senate investigating group denied that it was bad taste for a man with a blood-reddened axe in one hand and the head of a woman in the other to be placed on the cover of one of his firm's comic books.

California Girl Wins Crown As 'Miss America'

The 19-year-old San Francisco girl swept to the crown over a field of 50 gorgeous girls from all over the nation. The brown-haired drama student with blue-green eyes and a measurement of 34½, 22, 35, caught the judges eye to win the $60,000 pot of gold annually won by Miss America.

Second place went to Miss Florida, Ann Gloria Daniel, 21, Dade City; third was Miss South Carolina, (Polly) Rankin Suber, 19, Whitmire; fourth was Miss Pennsylvania, Barbara Sue Nager, 19, Philadelphia, and last in the first flight was Miss Michigan, Janice Somers, 19, Lansing.

Lovely Lee Ann, a student at City College of San Francisco, greeted the announcement with tears and said, "I will do my best to be a good Miss America."

She walked down the 120-foot runway, and nodded her thanks to the 18,000 gathered in the resort's massive convention hall for the annual pageant.

The last time a contestant from San Francisco entered the pageant was 1935—the year of Lee's birth.

Miss California entered the tense question and answer climax of the contest with the four other lovely finalists and compiled enough points from her responses to win her the crown.

The first questions, how she would use her scholarship to further her career, was answered in part by Lee with the response, "I want to use it to go to the Pasadena playhouse school to study dramatics."

When asked "what do you think will be your most vivid memory of the pageant," she replied, "the friendliness of the people."

The last question, about the responsibilities of being Miss America, was answered by Miss California with a pert, "To retain your own personality — it eats me when someone goes high-hat."

15,000 Workers Leave Atom Jobs

WAVERLY, Ohio, Sept. 11—UP—The prime contractor building the Pike county atomic energy plant said Saturday 15,000 construction workers were on strike in a jurisdictional dispute.

Strikers included pipe-fitters, electricians, iron workers, carpenters and millwrights, according to officials of Peter Kewitt Sons Co.

The 15,000 men off the job make up more than three-fifths of the total force employed in building the $1.2 billion plant.

Goodyear Atomic Corp. is slated to operate the plant after its completion. It was reported some union leaders called the strike on the claim the operating company was taking over parts of the plant "too soon."

The largest downtown church in Monroe, the First Baptist, is today initiation the observance of its Centennial of unusual growth and spiritual influence in the Twin Cities and for that matter in all northeast Louisiana.

Founded in a humble manner at its present site, it has grown with the expansion of Monroe and, guided by men of God who have given unfailing faithful service to the furtherance of their Christian faith, the results have been amazing.

The handful of Baptist members worshipping in a little frame church at St. John and Grammont street has expanded into nearly 3,000 today, to 2,700 to be exact.

The first event of many days to follow this month, inclusive of a great revival that is planned, will be the morning service today when Dr. L. T. Hastings, educator in a seminary in Pineville, Ky., pastor of this church a quarter of a century, will return to preach the initial sermon which will be entitled "Crowning a Century for Christ."

At the evening hour today, 7:30 p.m. Dr. Roland Leavell, president of the New Orleans Baptist Seminary, will deliver the sermon.

Main Force Of Terrible Storm Passes To East

Lightship Drifts, Disabled; Toll Of Deaths At Eleven

BOSTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Hurricane Edna swept furiously up the North Atlantic coast today—grazing the populous northeast in a breath-taking near-miss before dealing a punishing blow to the western tip of Nova Scotia.

Torn in two by its own fury, the storm roared angrily past southern Maine, leaving death and destruction as it whipped northeastward into the Canadian provinces.

The death toll stood at 11, most of them in highway accidents. Five New Englanders died, including a man who came in contact with a dangling electric wire.

As the storm headed into the Bay of Fundy and Nova Scotia, one of its two eyes passed directly over Bar Harbor, Maine, summer playground of millionaires.

The other eye of the hurricane moved across Bangor, Maine — where civilian defense crews sweated in the darkened city to evacuate residents of low-lying areas along the Penobscot River.

Maine was cut off from the rest of New England by road and rail. Floods and washouts cut tracks and highways in so many place-

New Hurricane Forms In Gulf Below Tampico

By UNITED PRESS

A hurricane built up in the Gulf of Mexico Saturday, threatening to end the fair weather enjoyed by most of Texas. The storm was developing in the same area as a previous one which set off disastrous Rio Grande floods.

Hurricane Florence developed slowly about 250 miles southeast of Brownsville. Highest winds Saturday were reported 75 miles an hour, barely hurricane strength, with gales extending outward 100 miles from the center.

The hurricane was expected to move slowly west and northwest during the next 12 hours, the New Orleans weather bureau said.

The normal path of a storm building up in that area would take it toward the coast, either hitting South Texas or Mexico.

Hurricane Alice, the first of the season, was born in the same general area. It hammered into Mexico, caused severe rains in South Texas, then set off a series of downpours in Mexico and West Texas which were climaxed by the greatest flood in Rio Grande history.

Alice left devastation in its wake, both directly and indirectly although there were few deaths from the storm itself. But many lives were lost on both sides of the Rio Grande during the resultant flood, while property and crop damage ran into the millions of dollars.

The weather forecasters said it was still too early to tell what the new hurricane Florence may do. But it is certain to have a direct effect on Texas weather during the next few days.

Although the storm may follow the path of its predecessor Alice and vent most of its power on the Mexican coast, the storm may again cause heavy rains in parts of Texas. Most parts of the state need moisture, but Alice dumped too much rain in the wrong places.

Adenauer Faces Crucial Test In Today's Voting

KIEL, Germany, Sept. 11 (AP) — At bitter odds with France abroad and threatened with political mutiny at home, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer fights for a new vote of confidence tomorrow in West Germany's first state election since the death of his pet project—the European army.

One and a half million eligible voters in rural Schleswig-Holstein, known as the "Bonn republic's poorhouse," will give their verdict on Adenauer's leadership.

The 78-year-old German leader stressed today that the world would measure Germany's present support for him by the results at the polls in this small northernmost state, which borders on Denmark and the Soviet zone.

The end of the state campaign finds him under the gravest political disadvantages since he took office five years ago.

For five years, Adenauer has promised his people political and military equality in a Western alliance, but failed to win it.

Since Premier Pierre Mendes-France led the French National Assembly in junking EDC last week, Adenauer's distaste and suspicion of him have become unconcealed.

This growing personal friction between the leaders of the two largest Western continental powers is perhaps the major reason for British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's flying goodwill tour of European capitals this weekend. He is due to talk to Adenauer in Bonn tomorrow and Mendes-France in Paris early next week.

Domestic political scandals, like the desertion to Communist East Germany of his security director, Dr. Otto John, plague Adenauer and have still to come up for embarrassing debate in the Bonn Parliament next week.

Passman Asserts Drouth Inquiry Poorly Handled

Otto E. Passman, U. S. Congressman from Louisiana's fifth congressional district, declared Saturday in Monroe that the federal government has "poorly handled" action on the severe drouth situation in 28 northeast Louisiana parishes.

Apparently angered because no decision on disaster aid was taken at a Washington drouth committee meeting on Thursday because of "lack of information" on the situation, Passman stated he had been told "on numerous occasions" that a representative from Washington had already been sent into this area to make a drouth survey.

Saturday, Passman said that now "vague information from Washington indicated that the Department of Agriculture representative had not been in Louisiana and properly evaluated the drouth conditions here."

Passman had said earlier in the week that he had been assured a report for or against disaster aid would be made at the Thursday meeting, but since there was no survey evaluation from the departmental representative, no action was taken, he explained Saturday.

"However," Passman said, "I now have assurance by top department of agriculture officials in Washington that a representative of the department will be sent immediately to Louisiana to conduct hearings in Alexandria next week."

The congressman, who said he had talked with Dave Pearce, Louisiana agriculture commissioner, and L. A. Mullin, chairman of the Louisiana drouth commission, and both had assured him of their cooperation in having the meeting moved either to Monroe or Winnsboro so as to be nearer the affected area.

"The only way to properly evaluate the near catastrophe which has befallen the fifth district through the extreme drouth is to visit the stricken areas and actually see the damage which has been done," Congressman Passman said.

In the meantime, Mullin said from Alexandria that he has as yet received no reply from Washington concerning his report on the stricken areas.

Formal Dedication Set Today For Foster Homes

The formal dedication of Foster Homes, Monroe's newest low-rent housing project for Negroes and the last of the projects scheduled to be constructed in this area, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Mount Olive Baptist Church.

Samuel Rubin, chairman of the Monroe Housing Authority, said that Karl Buster, assistant director for management-disposition of the Fort Worth housing administration, will be principal speaker.

The new project, according to Rubin, cost more than one million dollars and was constructed by G. E. Bass and Co. for the local housing authority.

Marshall W. Amis, director of the Fort Worth field office, will be unable to attend the Sunday afternoon dedication but expressed his congratulations to Monroe civic leaders and housing authority officials for "their attention to civic responsibilities" in making housing available to families who otherwise would still be living in substandard dwellings.

"The purpose of the public housing administration is to assist local communities in providing proper

When the imminent return of Bao Dai from France was announced three weeks ago, there was strong opposition from anti-government groups and some threatened action against him.

His name was mentioned in July as Ely's likely successor in the Vietnamese command. If recovery can be made in this case, the FHA has said it will try to reclaim most of the other millions it says building contractors realized on government-supported loans under the apartment construction program, which expired in 1950.

The government says the difference between the amount of the loans and actual construction costs was charged off in higher rents, but whether the tenants will get any money back is problematical.

only the typewritten words "personal and confidential."

"It was my opinion and it is my opinion," Cohn said, "that this document was not classified and I so advised Sen. McCarthy."

Cohn, who quit as McCarthy's chief counsel in the stormy aftermath of last spring's McCarthy-Army hearings, flew here from Chicago to testify in answer to a committee subpoena. He was on his way to Mississippi to start National Guard training tomorrow, and the committee heard him ahead of schedule so he could get there in time.

Deeply tanned, Cohn testified at first that he never gave a copy of the "FBI letter" to columnist Walter Winchell or to any other newspaperman.

"I don't know," he replied when asked if any other McCarthy staff members did so.

Winchell testified earlier in the week he received a copy of the document during the McCarthy-Army hearings, but didn't know who gave it to him. He said he was "pretty sure" it wasn't McCarthy or any member of the senator's staff.

On another of the five groups of censure charges against him, McCarthy described Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ) as a friend of his —but declined to withdraw a 1953 statement that Hendrickson is "a living miracle . . . without brains or guts."

McCarthy said he'd prefer not to talk about Hendrickson, adding: "I like him personally . . . I think he's a friend of mine."

But he said the 1953 remark about the New Jersey senator was made when Hendrickson signed the report of another subcommittee which blasted McCarthy in a manner which, he said, was "completely dishonest."

Sen. Case (R-SD), a member of the present investigating committee, noted Hendrickson later put out a supplement to the 1953 report which treated McCarthy more gently, and asked if in the light of that McCarthy wanted to soften his "no - brains - no guts" statement.

"There is no way on earth that you can withdraw a statement you made three or four (sic) years ago," McCarthy said. He added he would make no comment on Hendrickson's subsequent addition to the 1953 report.

lives on the fourth floor of the jail, heard the commotion and called for assistance. Officers jumped into the barred elevator and rushed to the fifth floor.

But Gallego and Sorber had fled through an open stairway to the fourth floor.

They ran for the automatic elevator that had carried deputies to the fifth floor, climbed in and rode to the ground floor and freedom.

As officers flooded the fifth floor with pistols drawn and cocked, the Negro trusty who was carrying the breakfast trays for death row became panicky and ran.

As they sped off, they slugged Vaughn and dropped him into the street.

Later, they ran the car into a ditch and fled again on foot. They came upon Calvin Wells and Warner Webster talking near Webster's red pickup truck.

Landrum and Wells were injured critically. Both men were given a 50-50 chance for survival when admitted to a hospital. They remained in critical condition though Landrum was reported improved today.

Sorber was described as standing 6 feet 1, weighing 225 pounds, rather nice looking, clean shaven, and having straight black hair.

Both men were wearing dark trousers and T-shirts when they escaped. Sorber was barefooted.

Sorber was convicted on Sept. 23, 1953, for helping slay Edgar (Sonny) McGraw in a cotton field at state penitentiary. Three other men were tried for murder. One other received a death sentence and two life imprisonment.

Gallego was convicted of killing policeman Ernest Beaugez last May when the officer tried to arrest him. He was convicted in June.

Testimony showed that after Gallego killed the officer he went to Mobile, Ala., and is charged with robbing a bank there.

Later, he took a taxi to New Orleans and was arrested as he passed through Moss Point.

Though both men were sentenced to die in the electric chair, appeals to the supreme court held up the executions.

Benson Gives Prescription For Dairymen

EVERETT, Wash., Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the reason the dairy industry and agriculture in general have had trouble is that they have been "doctored with aspirin —instead of measures to cure the real defects."

The secretary's Pacific Northwest trip brought him before the Washington State Council of Farmers Cooperatives, in the heart of the state's dairying industry.

Discussing the flexible price support program and the dairy program in particular, Benson said in his prepared address that farmers, the dairy trade and consumers have accepted the 75 per cent of parity support level and "have successfully adjusted to it."

"We are also working out from under the mountain of butter in government hands," he said.

The general aim of the program, he said, is encouraging production for the market, rather than for storage in government warehouses.

"Once the backbreaking surpluses are cut down to normal levels," he said, "this new farm program will make it possible to get rid of stringent production controls, controls nobody likes but which are part and parcel of high, fixed price supports."

The nation's dairymen, however, face particular problems because Americans are using less milk and cream, 12 per cent less per person last year than in 1945, he said. The industry has been "outpromoted" by its competitors for the consumer's dollar, he explained.

Girl Matador Still Very Ill From Injuries

DEL RIO, Tex., Sept. 11— UP—Bullfighter Patricia McCormick is still "a pretty sick girl" almost a week after she was gored by a bull in a Mexican ring, her nurse said Saturday.

Miss McCormick remains in Del Rio hospital, where she was rushed after being gored severly in the groin last Sunday. But she has said she is determined to regain her strength and resume her unusual career.

The pretty, 24-year-old former Texas Western College coed from Big Spring, Tex., was in critical condition for two days after the mishap. Her nurse, Mrs. Agnes Strother, said Saturday it would be some time before the blonde matadora would be able to leave the hospital. She had a bad day Friday, Mrs. Strother said, but was feeling better Saturday.

Miss McCormick had killed about 30 bulls prior to last Sunday. She had killed one bull on the program in Ciudad Acuna, across the Rio Grande from Del Rio, and was fighting the second when gored.

"I compiled the reports and sent them on to Washington," Mullin said Saturday. "I haven't received a reply of any sort."

Louisiana was one of nine states requesting drouth disaster aid from the government because of the severe crop damage, and despite the efforts of Passman, Gov. Robert Kennon, Pearce and other leaders throughout the state no definite action has been taken.

O'Dwyer Starts Legal Action In Income Tax Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer, ex-ambassador to Mexico, has started court action in Washington against a government claim that he owes $9,000 additional taxes, his attorney disclosed tonight.

The attorney, O'Dyer's brother Paul, said he instituted the contest in Tax Court in Washington because, "We will not permit this thing to go unchallenged."

"It is a capricious act with political motivations," he said. "It is my understanding that it is in keeping with government policy—that prominent Democrats are fair game."

Paul O'Dwyer said he filed the action in behalf of the former mayor and his estranged wife, Sloan Simpson. She has obtained a civil divorce which O'Dwyer, a Roman Catholic, does not recognize.

The question of their marital status has been turned over to New York City Catholic officials, but no settlement has been announced.

Paul said here tonight that there was not "the slightest justification" for the government's claims, which involve the former mayor's 1949 and 1950 returns.

The attorney said the 1950 claim involved disallowing a $5,000 deduction for O'Dwyer's expenses in running the embassy in Mexico City.

Such a deduction, he said, "is usually allowed to every ambassador I ever heard of—We've checked with accountants who have filed the returns of various ambassadors. It's a patent piece of political chicanery."

Paul O'Dwyer said his brother would come to Washington whenever it became necessary in pursuing the case "and we certainly are going to put them to their proof."

In St. Louis, the Globe Democrat, in a dispatch from Washington, said a copy of the Internal Revenue Service deficiency notice was attached to the O'Dwyer petition and that it made no allegation of fraud.

Texans Rebuffed By California In Juvenile Project

DEL MAR, Calif., Sept. 11—UP—Sid Richardson and Clint Murchison, the wealthy Texas oilmen who took over Del Mar racetrack for the benefit of Boys Inc., a charitable organization, said Saturday "if California doesn't want us, it leaves us unhappy but we will go somewhere else."

A state Senate committee Friday recommended that the California horse racing board not issue the track a retroactive license for the current meeting—which ends Saturday — pending a further investigation of the relationship between Del Mar and Boys Inc. The board however, ignored the recommendation and issued the license Friday.

Richardson and Murchison, at a press conference held at the swank seaside track, said they were personally advancing between $300,000 and $400,000 to be used for building the first Boys Inc. project in San Diego ocunty, with construction to begin.

They also said they had hoped that Del Mar would be the first of "four or five" tracks throughout the nation which they would take over to help finance Boys Inc., the aim of which is to combat juvenile delinquency.

The Senate committee said that the oilmen obtained control of the track with a cash investment of only $10,000 to $15,000 and that the deal would cost the state some $29,000 in taxes each year.

Orientation To Start Wed. At Northeast State

Orientation and instructions for freshmen will open registration at Northeast State on Wednesday. Other students are scheduled to enroll from September 16-17, with the exception of persons desiring late afternoon and Saturday morning classes. This group will register September 18 from 8 to 12 a.m.

This fall's program is designed to give special recognition to freshmen in making them become acquainted with the college campus, departments and the numerous organizations and activities which are considered influencing factors.

Beginning students are asked to report to Brown Auditorium at 9 a.m. on September 15, the day on which they enroll. Besides the one day's registration, freshmen will participate in orientation affairs each day through Friday, college officials announced. The calendar of events includes social events in addition to other activities.

High school graduates and students transferring from other colleges are asked to have their transcripts of credits to facilitate enrollment procedure. Veterans who will enter college this fall should bring their certificates of eligibility to avoid delay in registering.

Northeast will use the alphabetical plan of registration as it has proved in past years convenient for students, B. S. Hamner, registrar, said.

The time schedule for beginning students and summer school freshmen is set for September 15, according to the following arrangement: A-C, 11-12 a.m.; D-G, 1-2 p.m.; H-L, 2-3 p.m.; Mc-R, 3-4; S-Z, 4-5 p.m.

19-Year-Old New Orleans Boatsman Wins Mallory Cup 2nd Straight Year

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Gene Walet II of New Orleans today won the Mallory Cup, symbolic of the North American sailing championship, for the second straight year.

The Loyola University freshman, representing the Gulf Yachting Association, sailed two conservative races in the lightning class sloop and ended with 50½ points for the eight race series.

Holding back somewhat so as not to foul out, he took one fifth and one sixth place, but they were enough to defeat William Cox of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island, who finished second with 45½ points.

Cox won the morning race over the six-mile course on Lake Pontchartrain. Lindsay Durant of the Yacht Racing Union of Massachusetts Bay was second and Carl Smither of the Lake Yacht Racing Association of Buffalo, N. Y., was third.

William Buchan Jr of the Pacific International Yachting Association won the final race, followed by H. J. Cawthra of the Detroit River Yachting Association. Smither again was third.

Walet 50½; Cox 45½; Cawthra 44½; Buchan 39¼; Durant 32¼; Smither 32; Lloyd Emory, Chesapeake Bay Yacht Racing Association, 27; and Carl Eichenlaub, Yacht Racing Union of Southern California, 24.

Negro Is Killed, Another Injured In Shooting Here

A Chatham Negro was killed and a West Monroe Negro is in the St. Francis sanitarium following a shooting late Friday night near a Ridge avenue, West Monroe, tavern. No charges have been filed, pending the outcome of the second Negro's condition, Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday.

Dead is Eddie McCurtis, age unknown.

In critical condition in a local hospital is Herbert Young. Attendants said his condition was such that operating the remove a bullet had to be postponed late Friday night.

According to investigating officers, the two Negroes were arguing and later went outside where they began wrestling. Both of the Negroes pulled pistols and shot point-blank at each other.

McCurtis was found lying on his right side in a driveway between 1206 and 1208 Ridge avenue. He was dead when officers arrived on the scene.

The second Negro, according to witnesses, was seen running from the area and went into a bar, from which he was taken to the hospital.

Chinese Envoy Foresees Finish Fight With Reds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11— UP—Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo Saturday predicted a "terrible fight to the finish" if the Chinese Communists attempt to invade embattled Quemoy Island.

Just back from a five-week trip to Quemoy, Formosa, the Pescadores and Tachen islands, the noted Chinese stateman told the United Press in one of his rare interviews that the United States and other free nations should consider Nationalist resistance "to this latest Communist aggression with sympathy, approval and support."

Unlike some diplomats, Dr. Koo did not write off Red China's threat to "liberate" Formosa. He said the Nationalist homeland and its outlying islands "are thorns in the side of the Red regime" which prevent consolidation of the mainland.

The envoy, a veteran of 42 years in the diplomatic service, asserted that a Communist invasion of Quemoy and any other outlying islands guarding Formos would only be the prelude to invasion of Formosa.

Drawing on first-hand observation of his government's defense system, he voiced confidence that Generalissimo Ciang Kai-shek's forces would smash any invasion attempt so long as the sea and air approaches to Quemoy, Formosa and other islands are controlled by the Nationalists.

Former Senator Connally Publishes Autobiography; Pleads Case For UN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Former Sen. Tom Connally, in his just published autobiography, predicts a bright tomorrow for the present-day troubled world.

And he feverently declares that the United Nations, which he helped launch in the 1945 San Francisco conference, still is the world's hope for lasting peace.

A veteran of 36 years in Congress, the Texas Democrat has lived here with his wife since his voluntary retirment two years ago. The colorful 77-year-old former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sets down his memoirs in a book entitled "My Name Is Tom Connally" published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co. of New York.

Narrating the events of his life and his views to Alfred Steinberg, who does the actual writing of the book, Connally chastizes those who are impatient with the U.N. and calls for both more firmness and understanding in dealings with Russia.

"Those who carp against the UN fail to discern that it is a new organization," Connally said.

"Yet already through its facilities, we have emerged gradually from darkness into twilight. All international problems cannot be readily solved. New issues will arise with new events. . .

"Not long ago, Secretary of State Dulles advocated rewriting the U.N. Charter because it is a preatomic age document. I do not agree. One of the greatest documents ever written, the Constitution of the United States, is also preatomic age, and it is well able to hold its own under any conditions.

"Amendments to the U.N. Charter can be written to meet broad needs."

Only 867 teachers qualified to teach physics and chemistry graduated from U. S. coleges in 1954 says the National Education Assn.

Family Guarded After Reporting Killer's Threat

HAWTHORNE, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—Police today guarded three relatives they said were threatened with death by Gerald Gallego, 21, a condemned slayer who escaped from a Mississippi jail.

Gallego said before his escape yesterday with another condemned man that he would kill his mother, a brother and sister, police reported. They said he also threatened two policemen.

"I've killed two cops," he was quoted, "and I'm going to kill two more."

Patrol cars cruised by the Hawthorne home of his mother, Mrs. Daisy Stoddard, as she tearfully told reporters:

"I pray that my son won't kill again."

Police in this Los Angeles suburb also assigned a watch to the home of Gallego's brother, Robert, 30. In Westminster, in nearby Orange County, sheriff's deputies guarded a sister, Mrs. Shirley Van Zant, 28.

"He's serious," said Lt. M.M. Baumgardner of the Hawthorne police. "He plays for keeps. If he says something, he means it. He may even come knocking at my door."

In Hawthorne, officers said, Gallego began a crime career climaxed yesterday when he and another death row inmate threw acid on a jailer, slugged him, and escaped from the Hinds County jail at Jackson, Miss.

The jailer, J. C. Landrum, is in critical condition. Gallego and Minor Sorber, who was sentenced to die for helping kill a fellow convict, also slugged three men to steal getaway cars.

Both men were awaiting appeal of their death sentences. Gallego was convicted of killing a Gulf Coast policeman.

"Gerald had a terrible police persecution complex," his mother told newsmen. "He blames his brother for having him arrested before he stole a car in Salt Lake and ran off to Mississippi.

"Actually, I did it. I wanted him to give himself up as a parole violator and get a fresh start — with proper treatment."

Through reporters she appealed to her son to give himself up.

Highway patrolmen in Mississippi threw roadblocks across all main highways in the state and stood by under orders to "use any means" to recapture the two escapees.

Dynamite Plot To Blast Fast Train Probed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 11 (AP)—A possible attempt to dynamite a railroad trestle 30 minutes before a Southern Railway express train was due was investigated at nearby Leeds today.

Southern Railway authorities said five sticks of dynamite and what looked like a crude detonator were found on top of the Little Cahaba River trestle after two men were reported to have been frightend away last night.

An explosion would have hurled the express, pulling mail and freight cars and one passenger car, 20 feet into the bed of the stream.

Leeds is on the Southern main line between Atlanta and Birmingham, 18 miles east of Birmingham.

A railroad official who asked that his name not be used said a man walking along the tracks frightened away two men who ran to a waiting car and fled.

Mrs. Cain Pays Disputed Taxes; Famed Case Shut

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Cain's fight to avoid payment of $42 in social security taxes on herself as a self-employed person was marked "closed" today.

Records in the U.S. District Court Clerk's office showed receipt of payment of $121.51 in back taxes, interest and court costs.

Mrs. Cain, who contended social security is unconstitutional, fought the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, which refused to hear arguments on the grounds social security had been declared constitutional.

Circuit court officials said the judgment was satisfied in a writ of garnishment against wages earned by Miss Mary Lou Butler, niece of Mrs. Cain and owner of The Summit Sun, which Mrs. Cain edits.

Miss Butler is society editor of The McComb Enterprise-Journal.

Tell Us About It, Sherman

AS THIS NEWSPAPER SEVERAL DAYS AGO COMMENTED, A GREAT TRAGEDY WAS COMMITTED AGAINST THE GOOD NAME OF THE UNITED STATES WHEN GENERAL KIRKE LAWTON WAS FIRED OUT OF THE ARMY UNDER REASONS OF "MEDICAL DISABILITY."

EVERY SENSIBLE AMERICAN REALIZES THAT HE WAS FIRED BECAUSE HE HAD DEMANDED FAIR TREATMENT OF SENATOR M'CARTHY, A RENEWED AND VIGOROUS INVESTIGATION OF MARXISM AT HIS AND OTHER ARMY POSTS, BUT WHAT IS EVEN MORE SIGNIFICANT—HE NAMED SIX AMERICAN COLLEGES AS CENTERS OF COMMUNIST AND MARXIST INTRIGUE.

SHERMAN ADAMS, AS A LEADER OF THE "ADVANCE" WHICH YOU SHOULDN'T DENY YOU ARE, CAN YOU TELL US POOR SOUTHERN IGNORAMUSES WHY GENERAL LAWTON WAS FIRED BECAUSE AMONG OTHER THINGS HE NAMED THE CITY COLLEGE OF NEW YORK AS ONE OF THESE CENTERS? THE MONROE MORNING WORLD AWAITS WITH INTEREST YOUR ANSWER OR AN ANSWER FROM A DEFENSE DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL.

CAN YOU ALSO TELL US WHY GENERAL LAWTON WAS OFFICIALLY "IN AN ARMY HOSPITAL—SICK AND DISABLED" WHEN IN TRUTH HE WAS A WELL AND ABLE MAN AS LATE AS LAST WEEK, EATING DINNER AT A SYNDICATED COLUMNIST'S APARTMENT IN NEW YORK?

King Cotton And You

(Conclusion)

The Morning World in its past three issues, has discussed the problems of the cotton farmers of this area as were related to the International and National Competitive markets, the natural obstacles and the government subsidies. The last problem, that of supply and demand still reigns supreme as the most important consideration of the farmer who, after all, is a producer of a commodity.

As the cotton is grown, and ginned, there must be an outlet for the commodity. In short, if the cotton is to be profitable, it must be sold at a price above the cost of production. Heretofore, the government has helped the situation by its price support program. It is hoped by not only this newspaper, but by the farm organizations and by many, many farmers themselves, that such an artificial economy as presently exists can eventually be overcome by the merits of cotton.

In order to do this, cotton and its products (and by-products) must be made as attractive as possible to the consumers in the United States and for that matter, throughout the world.

In a few words, more people will have to like cotton than like and use it presently. Cotton will have to meet and better the stiff competition of the competitive synthetic fabrics presently being produced by the chemical industries. The National Cotton Council working in conjunction with many of the allied cotton industries is engaged in a two-fold program which, if successfully concluded, will bring about this needed greater public demand for cotton products.

The two-fold campaign is based on a heavier advertising schedule and better and wider chemical research program designed to improve on nature's already marvelous fiber.

Actually, the farmer in this area could probably compete successfully with other sections and even against the synthetic market if the tariff situation was improved to help the cotton producers and if all other subsidies were lowered or eliminated. However, as both of those considerations would seem impossible at this point, the farmer needs both the help of the government and the improved cotton market as is presently contemplated by the National Council.

It is absolutely impossible to describe in one or two, or even three editorials, the great importance of cotton to this area. Local merchants who do not support their cotton products over the synthetics are not only hurting themselves, but are helping to cut off their own support. The figures of industrial trade in this area will prove this statement.

Louisiana has no Balanced Agriculture With Industry program as has Mississippi, nor is it perhaps so necessary to have one, but, as an industry, the cotton industry is a hometown product so important as to escape the attention of no one.

Monroe and the entire trade area is not an industrial section. True, there is some industry, but compare the figures of the standing (machine products) industry, with the cotton industry and you will easily see the vast chasm which separates the cotton production figures (combined total) with the figures of all other industry. There are efforts to bring more industry to the area which indeed, are laudible, but, the cities of Monroe and West Monroe would almost have to become "little Pittsburghs" or "little Chicagos," industrially speaking, to match the cotton production, dollar for dollar.

Thus, it is easy to see how the problems of the cotton farmers and producers become the worry and the problems of many other people. When a cotton crop fails, the results and effects are felt by many people in this area. When a cotton crop is good, those results are also felt by the increased buying power of people from all walks of life. The merchant, the automobile dealer, the appliance dealer, the hardware stores and many, many others are directly benefited. As they are benefited, so you are benefited.

Some months ago, there was a hue and cry because Selman Field was not reactivated. Citizens who were looking forward to an increased sales due to the influx of a new population, even a temporary one, were greatly disappointed because the field "failed to arrive."

Suppose the cotton industry was to fold in a year's time, or even two or three years? Suppose Monroe was dropped as a trade area for almost all Northeast Louisiana's farmers? Suppose there was no cotton production in this section? The failure of Selman Field to come to Monroe would be a trifling thought next to the real calamity which of necessity, would be the case.

It is easy to see the importance of cotton as an industry for Monroe. The future of cotton production here is partially your future. It effects you as much as almost any single commodity. The rise in cotton production can mean increased protection from business recession while a drop in the production could mean serious trouble.

The time of the chugging steamboats up the beautiful Ouachita is perhaps gone. The time of the old methods of cotton production has passed. But, the cotton industry which made this area what it is, still is present.

Times change and people, land, buildings, methods of production change with them, but King Cotton still remains in the top spot of importance for this area. Never forget the great importance of that sheet, or shirt, or handkerchief, or even, tie.

Never forget the cotton pillowcase, the dresses and almost every article of clothing.

King Cotton is there, it's all around you. Next time you see the fields of now harvested cotton, remember that in some way or another, you have probably been benefited by each little boll yanked from the stem of the plant.

For, you see, Cotton's future is Monroe's future.

King Cotton and You?

Henry P. Van Dusen And Union Theological Seminary

Due to some most unfortunate beliefs that the Morning World would deliberately print prevarication in its editorial column, it is necessary to bring forth some facts concerning Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, President of Union Theological Seminary, Dr. John Bennett, a professor at the institution and information concerning the institution itself.

The Morning World does not knowingly print prevarication. Before the series on the World Council of Churches was published, every statement written was first backed with photostats and the statements of the leaders themselves. The record of the Morning World in the past number of years editorially speaking, stands on its own two feet and they are firmly planted in the facts.

Very extensive research went into the preparation of the World Council series which appeared some weeks ago. There were no "unreliable sources" used in this series. Every scrap of information came directly from an accredited agency.

The Morning World sympathizes with some graduates of Union Theological, but is nonetheless, ready to publish all available information concerning that school.

Consider first, Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen. He was a member or an associate of the following organizations; "American Committee For the Protection of the Foreign Born."

This Committee appears on the list of organizations cited by the Attorney General as "subversive." It was described by the Attorney General as "one of the oldest auxiliaries of the Communist party in the United States. Also, it was cited by the House un-American Activities Committee and the California Committee on un-American Activities.

He was connected with the "Committee on Militarism in Education." That group waged relentless war on the ROTC organization, it opposed national defense work, received 12,000 dollars from the Red "Garland Fund," bitterly opposed the American Legion, VFW and the Reserve Officers Association.

Next, there was the "National Religion and Labor Foundation." This was set up by "radicals" in 1932 to organize a "new Social Order," to seek ways of overthrowing the capitalist system, to help strikers and was composed of Communists and Socialists. It published atheistic literature, some of which is in possession of this newspaper.

Next, on Dr. Van Dusen's list, there is a note which indicates that he was either a member of or cooperated very closely with the Socialist Party of the United States. This Marxian party needs no further description.

Finally, he was a member or associate of the "War Resistors League." This was the American affiliate of the "War Resistors International," a noted pro-Communist, pacifist organization which did its best to subvert the war effort until the U.S.S.R. got into the war.

Then, there is Dr. John Bennett the protege and follower of the Marxist Harry F. Ward. Ward, by the way, is still on the staff (emeritus) of the Union Theological. Bennett was either a member or an associate of the "National Federation For Constitutional Liberties." This organization was cited as "subversive" by the Attorney General and was termed by Lenin as "a member of the solar system of Communist organizations." It was cited by the House Committee on un-American Activities, and the California Committee on un-American Activities.

Bennett was also connected with the "National Religion and Labor Foundation" already described in Van Dusen's record) and was a signer of the "World Tomorrow Poll" which voted in favor of Socialism, a heavy increase in income taxes and a "cooperative commonwealth."

In "Theology Today," a magazine edited by Dr. John A. MacKay, Bennett as "guest writer" for the month of October, 1950, made the following series of statements beginning on page 352:

"In spite of the widespread Red hunting, there is very little actual support of communism in this country . . . Why must they conclude that there is a conflict between Christ and communism? Certainly, we cannot find the difficulty in the Communist economic system or in the Communist social goals. There is much overlapping between Communist goals and Christian goals. I do not believe that American Christians could condemn communism because of its belief that revolution, even violent revolution is sometimes necessary."

Dr. Bennett, who Van Dusen says, "cannot be regarded as a Socialist" first disarms the American people about the Communist situation and then, agrees that violent Communist revolution should not be condemned.

Regarding the Union Theological Seminary; as far back as 1920, the Joint Committee of the New York State Legislature (Lusk Committee) had severely denounced Union as a center of Revolutionary intrigue. In July of 1953, the House Committee on un-American Activities issued its complete report on Communist Activities in the New York area.

No less than 5 top Communist policy makers who have denounced Marxism and come over have described this institution to the Committee in a most unfavorable manner. This newspaper suggests that the people read parts 6, 7, and 8 of the report in order to get a clear picture. Union has been described as "a dangerous center of revolutionary teaching" and other similar considerations.

This newspaper is in possession of the files from both the New York Committee and the House Committee of Congress both of which, it is very certain, were in the knowledge of Van Dusen.

The discrepancy is indeed, curious.

Rev. Oliphint's Letter

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In your editorial on the World Council of Churches on July 28, 1954, you made the following statement:

"The most important resolution passed at the Assembly (the Amsterdam Assembly of 1948) was a statement condemning the Capitalist system in the United States. It was presented by the Socialist Theologian from Union Theological Seminary in New York, John C. Bennett. Union Theological has been denounced by the New York State Legislative Committee on Sedition as a 'dangerous center of Revolutionist Teaching.' "

I doubted the accuracy of these charges, particularly the charges against Union Seminary. As a student at Union, the only 'revolutionist teaching' I found there was the 'revolutionary' love of Jesus Christ. I wrote to Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, President of Union Seminary and here is his reply:

"The statements in the Monroe Morning World are absolutely untrue, and the relevant facts are as follows:—

(1) The Amsterdam Assembly made a Christian judgment upon 'laissez - faire capitalism" as it did upon the major alternative economic systems.

(2) The Assembly statement on capitalism was not presented by Dr. Bennett.

(3) Dr. Bennett cannot be correctly designated as 'the socialist theologian'.

(4) As for the statement that 'Union Theological has been denounced by the New York State Legislative Committee on sedition as "a dangerous center of Revolutionist Teaching," 'so far as I am aware there is not one iota of truth in it. I am quite certain that Union Seminary has never been denounced by the "New York State Legislative Committee," unless that is a self - appointed and completely unofficial group of which we have never heard. If there is such a committee with official status, it is possible that someone may have denounced the seminary before this committee, although I very much doubt it, for it is virtually unthinkable that such a thing could have occurred in New York State without our knowing of it.

In summary, it looks to me as though your local newspaper had either manufactured these charges out of whole cloth or had picked them up from some absolutely unreliable source."

I agree!

Tallulah, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As one interested in the small farmer, 10 or 15 acre man, I am urging you to help him. He is the only one that has suffered from the acreage cut. The large farmers with 100 acres or more have even more acreage than before the program.

The small farmers met and voted to get a new committee, but they over stepped them and put on the old committee.

Now you have been notified about this committee. The same ones who took the turned back acreage that was to be given to the hardship cases and divided them among themselves.

It is strictly a case of the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer. Is there no help for the small farmer? If they rebel and plant more anyway, they will not be issued a sales card. This is happening in Madison Parish, Louisiana.

The farmers who have gone to the office asking questions have been treated most shamefully.

Teachers Couldn't Be Heard For The Noise

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

This morning, like hundreds of other Mothers, I registered my children in one of the city schools. During registration, there was so much talking the teacher could not be heard. The noise was not made by the children, but by the mothers. The teacher had to call them down several times but this did not help. Mothers of several children were asked to please stop them from banging on a piano. Of course this did not stop either. They would continue to talk above the noise of the piano.

I want my children to respect the teachers, and I believe the other parents expect the same. How can they ask this of the children when they themselves do not show respect and consideration? I was honestly shocked and ashamed to have been in the group called "parents." The teacher would have been within her rights to ask some of the mothers to step outside until they could finish their gossiping. Because of this rudeness it took twice as long to get the children registered as the names had to be repeated several times in order to be heard.

It is my opinion that this is one of the poorest examples that could be set for any child.

What The Negro Knows?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

My great grandfather fought in the Spanish American War. My father fought in World War One, and my brother fought in World War Two and was killed in Europe, and I was a p. o. w. in Korea. Three generations fought wars for yours and my country to save our loved ones.

There were plenty of Negro volunteers for war. Now for our valiout efforts we gave to this country there couldn't be more noise made by some whites if Russia would invade this country, as it is over non-segregation.

Sometime past T. A. Hilton said that we Negroes were never constitutionally made citizens of this country. Well, Mr. Hilton, why don't you have a law passed that non citizens go to war? Mr. Thomas A. Hilton also said the people should get behind bill No. 138 and send the Negroes back to Africa. Well, Mr. Hilton, you would be surprised to see how many Negroes that would be. We don't love your ancestors for kidnapping our ancestors and bringing them over here to do the work your ancestors were too lazy to do.

Since white men more than a century ago went to Africa seeking riches, we are glad to know that we were one time true blooded Africans, but your ancestors destroyed that.

Mr. Caswell Ellis of South Carolina said the action of the supreme court will mongrelize the white race. Mr. Ellis, does the Negro look like mongrels?

Mr. Hilton says Negroes are lower than snakes. He says they will knock women in the head and ravish them. Mr. Hilton, Negroes don't kill and rape five month old babies, four year old babies, nor seven year old babies, nor kidnap and kill babies. Dogs, polecats, snakes, take care of the little ones until they mature and so do the Negroes.

And to the race riots in the north. Sure there's riots there. Why? Because the white southerners went north. Why do Negroes go north and come back south? Only because of the climate. They go north to get fair wages and to taste a little equality and freedom and justice, something the south doesn't have.

Mr. Hilton said that the white woman is made in the emblem of God's angels. Well, Mr. Hilton, we aren't as wise as you are and don't know how God's angels look since we haven't seen one. But this we do know the Negro women are our angels and we love them.

Mr. Hilton said the Russians want the Negroes to do their hard labor. Well, Mr. Hilton, no other nation on earth hates Negroes like the U. S. A.

May I ask this, where is your home? and what state you hail from when you came to Ruston? From Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, or Russia?

Republican Hooverism

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would like to take issue with your Mr. Morgan of Bastrop who was very free with his condemnation of the Democrats and their twenty years in control of this country.

Mr. Morgan did not mention the fact that at the end of the Hoover administration this country was on the verge of a revolution and 90 per cent of the people didn't know where their next meal was coming from. A majority of the farmers had had their farms confiscated from them. People in the cities were kicked out by the mortgage holders and were tramping the country looking for jobs.

Today we have twice the real wealth that we had when Roosevelt took over. I think if Mr. Morgan would be fair he could look around himself and see that the Democrats did a pretty good job. He could check on the number of conveniences that are enjoyed by the average American that were only enjoyed by the favored few during the days of Republican Hooverism. Hoover means "boom and bust" and the same crowd are in control again with their politically naive General Ike as a front.

Confidential Game

Bernice, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Our nations law forces are to be given credit and admired for putting gangsters in their place that have had their way with a gun or spread fear among our decent population that work for a living.

Now in my opinion there are rackets that go on without interference, far more costly than the serious kind, on account of suckers being made of millions of our people. That is the method which smiles and promises of so much for their deal to get them on the dotted line. Later when the suckers look for what they were promised the deal turns out to be nothing but a trick.

If this racket is allowed to run wild can people still have confidence in an honest deal when so much dishonesty is going on.

Semi-Judicial

Houston, Tex.

Editor, Morning World:

One of the stories handed down in Texas from the old settlers to their children concerns crime investigation. Robbery, mortgage foreclosures, and cattle thieves were rampant. The well known "suqeeze" had been put on every citizen who had dared name a criminal.

Six law abiding citizens (a merchant and five farmers) called a meeting and invited the Sheriff. The Sheriff suggested that he appoint a "fair and representative committee" made up from a crosssection of citizens from all over the territory. The Sheriff did not sit on the committee since he had instigating the meeting (a fact not generaly known).

So as not 'o have a biased committee for this investigation, the Sheriff appointed three Triggermen, the Mortgage - foreclosure leader, two cattle thieves and two quiet, law-abiding men who had discreetly never expressed an opinion.

As reported in the local paper after a visit 'rom the Sheriff: "The Committee met in the Sheriff's office. Members deposited their guns with the Sheriff before entering the committee room. Cuspidors were removed. The Sheriff opened the meeting with a prayer and quietly retired to await the report."

The Sheriff reported to the merchant and good farmers the findings of the committee: 1. The Committee had recommended that the six men sell-out "lock, stock and barrel" and leave the territory. 2. The six men were found by the committee to be "meddlers, un-fit citizens, a disgrace to the community and troublemakers and furthermore, if they refused to comply they would be handled."

The two discreet men on the committee were rewarded for not turning in a minority report. They received a letter of commendation from the sheriff. One, then purchased the mercantile store at a bargain price. The other enlarged his mortgaged farm.

You know, that committee was at least decent enough not to pretend that the hearing was judicial, or for that matter, semi-judicial.

My! How times have changed!

Facts Worth Knowing

Unlike the cottontail rabbit, the young of the snowshoe rabbit are born fully furred, with their eyes open and can run around on the day of birth.

Michigan has eight inland lakes that cover areas of between 10,000 and 20,000 acres.

The mackerel has a different swimming apparatus than other fish. It has no air bladder to give it buoyancy, but strong muscles along its spinal column enable it to tuck its fins in close to the body for maximum swimming efficiency.

Like the chameleon, the tree toad can change its color to blend with tree bark or the bright green of new leaves.

Three and one-half million acres in Texas have proved productive of oil and-or gas.

The boy clung, screaming, to a small stake an hour and a half after his father disappeared. He was picked up by an unidentified man in a skiff.

NLRB Examiner Says Mine Union Red-Dominated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11— UP— A National Labor Relations Board examiner Saturday ruled, in effect, that the allegedly Communist-dominated Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union should be stripped of NLRB protection under the Taft-Hartley Act.

Examiner George A. Downing ruling specifically that Maurice E. Travis, secretary - treasurer of the union since 1948, had falsely signed non - Communist affidavits since 1949 and that the union membership has been aware of the falsity.

If the board upholds the findings, it would order the union barred from all NLRB services.

The union was one of 11 expelled from the CIO in 1949-50 as Communist-dominated. It also is one of the stronger survivors of the CIO ouster, despite loss of a number of locals to other unions.

Downing based his ruling largely on a union newspaper article under Travis' signature in August, 1949, soon after Travis signed his first non-Communist affidavit as required of all union officers under the Taft-Hartley law.

Downing concluded that the article boiled down to a statement that Travis "had resigned from the Communist party to make it possible for him to execute his affidavit. . .but he nevertheless continued to believe in the principles of communism and the Communist party."

Downing said the article "disclosed on its face his admission of the falsity of his first affidavit."

As for the subsequent affidavits, Downing said, "there is no evidence that Travis has since altered his allegiance to the Communist party or his loyalty to beliefs in communism."

Senate To Act On School Issue In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 11 —UP — A House-passed proposal that would allow Mississippi to set up state-supported "private" schools as a means of maintaining segregation was sent to the Senate today.

No further action was expected until Monday on the proposal, however, when the legislature resumes its special session.

The House yesterday gave its third and final reading of the measure with a vote of 105-14.

Senate approval of the measure, in the form of a constitutional amendment on which the people will have to vote, appeared to be a mere formality because 33 of the 49 senators have publicly pledged to support it.

Introduced in the House were two bills aimed directly at preventing outside intervention in attempts to break down school segregation in the state.

One would make it unlawful to "promise or offer assistance whatever to any person" as an inducement to file court proceedings.

The other would provide for "screening" of out-of-state lawyers by the state board of bar admissions before they could practice in Mississippi.

The proposed constitutional amendment needs a two-thirds vote in both houses to dissolve the state's public school system in favor of "private" schools. A simple legislative majority would permit local districts to sell public school property and create the private schools.

Georgians will vote on a similar proposal in November. It would remove a constitutional restriction that prohibits the legislature to allocate funds to "private" individuals and institutions.

L. M. Calhoun Center Dedicated In Gilbert

GILBERT, Sept. 11 (Special) — Citizens of Gilbert have this week in their midst a new community center, dedicated to the memory of L. M. Calhoun, Jr., a fellow citizen who before his death in 1951 had played a large part in the progress of one of Franklin parishes most progressive centers.

Sponsored by the Lion's Club of Gilbert the center was erected as a memorial and will be at the disposal of any organization or person wishing to use its facilities.

Harry Gilbert, of Wisner, a life long friend and close associate of Calhoun's, was the principal speaker for the occasion. Gilbert congratulated the Lion's club on erecting the building saying that through their untiring efforts "a beautiful memorial has been erected to our dear friend, Lannie Calhoun."

"In every generation," he continued, "there are a few men and women who because of some outstanding attribute such as great wealth, public spirit, and wonderful personality have won the respect and love of their fellowman. Such a man as this was our dear friend, Lannie Calhoun. The community of Gilbert, the parish of Franklin and the state of Louisiana, are proud to claim him as their son."

Gilbert asserted "our lives are richer and fuller because he lived and it is natural that we should desire to give some expression of our appreciation in honor of his memory by dedicating this center in his name."

Land for the center was given by the T. D. Gilbert Company.

Calhoun, who died in 1951, was born in Calhoun, moved to Gilbert as a young boy. He graduated from Louisiana Tech and went to work for the Dan Gilbert - Lucius Calhoun Mercantile Co. He was active in the development of the oil industry in north Louisiana and held both farming and insurance interests.

In both civic and church organizations Calhoun was at the forefront. He was a member of the Gilbert First Baptist Church where he served as deacon, choir master and held many other church offices. He also belonged to the Lions Club and was an active Mason. For a number of years he served as president of the Franklin Parish Baseball Association.

Gospel Quartets To Appear Here On September 28

Two of the nation's leading gospel-singing quartets will appear in a concert in West Monroe High School auditorium on the night of Sept. 28. This announcement was made Saturday by a spokesman for the Ouachita Gospel Singing Club.

Featured on the program will be the famous Revelaires quartet of Atlanta, Ga., with Dan Huskey, and the ever-popular Harmoneers quartet of Decatur, Ga.

In the Revelaires quartet will be Bobby Shaw, second tenor; Gordon Hill, bass; "Cat" Freeman, baritone, and Dan Huskey, high tenor.

Singing in the Harmoneers quartet will be Fred C. Maples, baritone; Fred Elrod, second tenor; Seals "Low-Note" Hilton, bass, and "Happy" Edwards, first tenor.

Wally Varner will be at the piano for the Revelaires and Charles Key will be playing for the Harmoneers.

The Revelaires quartet includes three players capable of reaching really high notes. Huskey is recognized as having one of the highest tenor voices in America and Freeman formerly sang the high tenor part for the Statesmen's quartet.

Election Set For La Salle Parish

JENA, Sept. 11 (Special) — Permission has been granted to the LaSalle parish police jury to call a special election for Nov. 2 for the purpose of voting on a two-mill roads and bridges maintenance tax, to run for five years and produce an estimated $100,000 in revenues, according to Vannah Poole, secretary - treasurer of the parish agency.

Approval of the proposed election was given by the Louisiana state tax and bonding authority which must give its permission on such proposals before elections can be called.

Action by the tax and bonding authority in approving the proposed two - mill roads and bridges maintenance tax left the way open for the parish body to proceed with plans for fencing the highways in the parish under the provisions of the Blair fencing law passed at the last session of the legislature.

The tax and bonding authority pointed out that it did not have the legal power to approve a tax election for the purpose of raising money for fencing the highways; however, the election to re-establish the special two-mill roads and bridges maintenance tax which expired two years ago was approved.

This means, Poole pointed out, that the police jury can use a portion of its state aid fund for the purpose of building the fences. This state aid fund, in the amount of $30,000 per year, normally is used for maintenance of roads and bridges.

Soil Conservation Group Appointed

BATON ROUGE Sept. 11 —UP— Gov. Robert F. Kennon has appointed the Louisiana Soil Conservation committee as the state agency to administer a new state-federal watershed protection and flood prevention program, his office announced today.

A program, which was passed by the 83rd Congress and signed Aug. 4 by President Eisenhower, authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to cooperate with state and local organizations in planning and undertaking flood prevention and water control programs in small upstream watersheds.

Members of the Louisiana committee are J. G. Lee, Jr., dean of LSU's college of agriculture; H. C. Sanders, director of the agricultural extension service; and J. Norman Efferson, experiment station director.

Congress appropriated $1,700,000 to Secretary Ezra Taft Benson for surveys in watershed areas to be made by the Soil Conservation Service and the U.S. Forest Service, the announcement said.

Cooperating with the federal agencies in the new program will be the state departments of public works and agriculture.

Applications for aid in local projects should be submitted to the state committee for approval, the governor's office said.

Health Center In New Iberia Parish Sought

WASHINGTON Sept. 11 —UP— Sen. Allen Ellender's office was notified today that preliminary approval has been given to a $110,589 health and diagnostic center for Iberia parish to be located in New Iberia.

Soviet Union's UN Budget For 1955 Increased

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union will have to pay more to the United Nations in 1955, for the fourth straight year, under assessments worked out by the U.N. Contributions Committee.

The United States assessment remains at one-third of the whole bill.

Informed sources said today the Soviet Union's assessment has been increased from 14.15 per cent this year to 15.08 per cent for 1955. This increase of 0.93 per cent was one of the biggest levied by the committee. Members of the committee figured the increase on reports of a larger national income for the Soviet Union. The Soviet Ukraine was increased from 1.88 to 2.0 per cent. White Russia was increased from 0.50 to 0.53 per cent.

These informants also reported that two other memberss of the Communist bloc in the U.N. got different treatment. Poland's assessment remained at 1.73 per cent while Czechoslovakia was cut from 1.05 to 0.94 per cent.

Britain was given a decrease to 0.95 per cent, the informants said, being cut from 9.80 to 8.85 per cent. The committee also considered its standard of per capita income and the national income in figuring Britain's decrease. France was given a boost from 5.75 to 5.90 per cent.

These figures will be presented to the General Assembly convening Sept. 21. Usually the delegates from the countries being increased make strong protests in the General Assembly but the committee's figures generally stand.

The U.N. budget total to be raised by contribution in 1954 was $41.300,000, of which the Soviet share was $5,843.950, second highest total in the U.N. but far behind the $13,765,290 assessed to the United States.

Evangelist Hits At Conduct Of U. S. Tourists

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham sharply criticized the conduct of American tourists in Europe today and called for the State Department to "screen" applicants for passports.

"When an American goes abroad that American is acting as an ambassador of the United States," Graham declared. He suggested that the government establish rules of conduct, then revoke passports of citizens violating such regulations.

The Montreat, N. C., minister's comments were made at a round-table interview with editors and reporters of The Nashville Tennessean. Graham concludes the third week of his first religious revival since returning from Europe here tonight.

The 35-year-old evangelist said he was impressed on his tour that "we have sold the world on the wrong things in America, unconsciously."

Graham said American tourists must assume much of the responsibility.

"We look down upon the Europeans as though they were inferior. The way we brag about America and everything in America has caused Europeans to dislike Americans."

Hollywood, too, must share in the false picture of this country that has been built up in the European mind, Graham declared.

Texas Man Held Following Auto Crash At Gilbert

WINNSBORO, Sept. 11 (Special) According to Sheriff Hiram B. Waller, a person who gave his name as Gene Spencer Smith, 34, of Houston, Texas is being held in the Franklin Parish jail on charges of careless and reckless driving resulting in an accident, fleeing the scene of an accident and not having a driver's license.

Waller said that Smith was supposedly the individual's name but so far no means of identification has been turned up.

Gilbert Marshal J. D. Jones, stated that Smith ran a red light Friday afternoon in Gilbert which resulted in a collision with a pick-up truck driven by Mrs. Pete McIntyre of Gilbert.

Smith parked his car nearby, took the keys out and proceeded to walk away from the accident. Franklin Parish authorities along with Richland officers and bloodhounds trailed Smith to Chase, a nearby town, where he evidently caught a ride and eluded the authorities.

Deputy McKinney, of the Richland Parish sheriff's department arrested Smith at a tourist court in Delhi Saturday afternoon. Deputies Mack Rogillio and Elmer Wiggins of Winnsboro escorted Smith to the Franklin Parish jail.

Three Burglaries Are Investigated By Local Police

City detectives yesterday reported that someone had entered Miletellos Grocery Store, 1718 Grammont street, sometime Friday night and escaped with $35 in cash.

Detectives said the culprit gained entrance to the building by tearing the screen from a ventilator, just above the floor level, on the west side of the building.

About 1:45 p.m. yesterday, detectives continued, E. R. Breard reported that someone had entered the Breard Real Estate office, 1604 Pine street. A filing cabinet and desk drawers were rifled, but nothing was reported missing.

Fifteen minutes later police received a call from H. W. Chapman, general contractor, who reported his office on 1606 Pine street, had been entered. Chapman said the desk drawers had been rifled, but nothing appeared to be missing.

At both the Breard and Chapman offices the burglar gained entrance by breaking windows on the west side of the building.

Solon Suggests Bond Issues For TVA Expansion

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Rep. Howard Baker (R-Tenn) suggested today the Tennessee Valley Authority be authorized to issue bonds for debentures to build hydro electric or steam plants to meet expanding power demands.

Baker told the Eastern District Power Distributors Assn. meeting here he had found "largely" two things wrong with TVA's relations with Congress:

The request and justifications for appropriations of new money from the U. S. treasury for TVA should be in simpler and more understandable form. There seems to be a rather general feeling among members of Congress that the conduct of the affairs of TVA are not being fully explained and disclosed to the Congress and to the appropriations committees.

Baker said members of Congress from other parts of the country ask him why an agency as wealthy as TVA has to beg Congress for 30 million dollars to start a proposed steam plant near Memphis, a request turned down by both Democratic and Republican congresses.

The Huntsville, Tenn., Republican suggested an amendment to the TVA act authorizing the agency to borrow money and issue bonds or debentures of sufficient amount to furnish facilities, hydro or steam generating, to "meet the needs of its expanding power demands."

He said such loans "would certainly be self liquidating."

Ike Relaxes In Preparation For Security Parley

DENVER, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower cut his work day short and took it easy on the golf course today in advance of two high level strategy conferences here tomorrow on the Communist threat at home and abroad.

One of the conferences scheduled is an extraordinary meeting of the National Security Council, called by the President for what aides say will be a full scale review of the tense Far Eastern situation.

The council members, flying from Washington, also will get from Secretary of State Dulles a first hand report on the new eight-nation pact aimed at thwarting Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. Dulles today was en route to Denver by plane from the Far East, where he attended the Manila conference which produced the pact.

On the way back to the United States the secretary stopped at Chinese Nationalist Formosa for a conference Thursday with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on Red shellfire from the China mainland against the island of Quemoy, which also is held by Chiang's forces.

One of the big questions for discussions at tomorrow's council meeting is what U.S. policy will be with respect to the attacks on Quemoy, where two American Army officers have been killed.

Eisenhower has kept in effect Truman administration orders to the U.S. 7th Fleet to protect Formosa against any Red Chinese assault, but there has been no public word on the fleet's role in connection with Quemoy and other Nationalist held islands near the mainland.

The council also almost certainly will discuss the shooting down last weekend of a U.S. Navy patrol plane by Soviet jet fighters over the Sea of Japan.

The other conference Eisenhower has scheduled tomorrow at his vacation headquarters at Lowry Air Force Base is with FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

They will discuss with the President how best to use the new legal weapons which the 83rd Congress provided for dealing with Communist infiltration at home.

Those weapons include the new statute outlawing the Communist party and opening the way for a crackdown on Red-dominated labor unions.

Woman Killed In Collision Of Car, Truck

RICHTON, Miss., Sept. 11 (AP) — One woman was killed and two other persons injured when their automobile smashed into a parked truck four miles south of here last night.

The injured were her brother, Willie Dee Blackburn, 18, identified as the driver, and a passenger, Miss Marie Burnett, 19, both of Richton.

Officers said the disabled truck protruded over the pavement and the driver had set out flares.

Perry County Sheriff Dee Hammett said the truck driver, identified as Harold Dearman of Laurel, was charged with involuntary manslaughter and released on $1,000 bond.

Fleeing Culprit Vanishes; So Do Tracking Hounds

ATLANTA, Sept. 11 (AP) — Patrolmen E. W. Longino and J. D. McBerry of suburban Hapeville were hotly pursuing a man on foot when he vanished from sight.

They called to the scene two trusty bloodhounds who picked up the trail with a yelp. Suddenly they too vere heard and seen no more.

The pursued had fallen into a 20-foot deep drainage pit and the dogs had fallen in after him.

How were the dogs and the wanted man getting along together in the pit?

"They were all scared to death. All they wanted to do was get out of there," said the police.

Public agencies were chary of estimates but damage to property and crops seemed certain to run into millions.

Shrieking winds and stinging rain toppled trees in Maine, blocked highways, marooned low-lying communities, stranded trains and knocked out electric and telephone lines.

At least two persons drowned in Maine's heaviest rainfall in 58 years and there were reports of several other possible deaths when four automobiles hurtled off flooded or washed-out bridges.

As the powerful storm headed into Canada, town officials of Yarmouth, N.S., on the tip of the province, declared a state of emergency.

There were no immediate reports of injuries but damage was reported heavy and widespread. Gusts at Yarmouth were clocked at 85 miles an hour.

Edna was expected to pass over Central New Brunswick. Province, across the Bay of Fundy from Nova Scotia, around midnight. Gusts up to 80 miles per hour were anticipated in the area of St.John.

Hurricane Edna, more powerful in potential force than her earlier sister Carol, fortunately failed to measure up in death and property havoc to that Aug. 31 storm. Carol was responsible for 68 dead and property damage in the hundreds of millions.

Edna, the season's fifth hurricane, brushed the Atlantic coastline from New Jersey north with high winds, waves and torrential rains up to seven inches. Detailed warnings and shoreline evacuation kept the damage down.

Southern New England, grimly respectful of Caribbean-storms after devastating blows in 1938, 1944 and only 12 days ago, watched open-mouthed as the big storm slid past with far less apparent damage that had been feared.

The plane sent this message at 8 p.m., EDT:

"Auxiliary steering is out (useless). No steerage way possible. Pumps are out but light vessel is able to cope with water now aboard. Spare anchor is streamed (out) and holding at present. Five portholes out on bridge. Bridge is heavily damaged. Emergency is not dire at this time as long as anchor holds. Lighting is poor with all forward power secured."

Edna became twins as she crossed Cape Cod. A weather plane noted two "eyes" or centers about a dozen miles apart, and meteorologists suggested she had been rent by her own violence.

On Cape Cod, tree limbs snapped and power lines fell but so far as reports showed hours later the damage apparently was not comparable to that inflicted by Edna's older sister, Carol, the third of the season, on Aug. 31.

The storm brought New York City its heaviest rainfall in one day in 45 years—4.98 inches in 17 hours. Times Square and Rockefeller Center, normally crowded with visitors, were deserted through the morning.

The hurricane forced curtailment of train and bus service along Connecticut's 120-mile shore, and washouts cut railroad service further north between Boston and Portland, Maine.

At Milford, Conn., 3,000 families were evacuated from shore areas and in New London an emergency proclamation mobilized civilian services.

Nantucket Island, 30 miles off the southern Massachusetts coast, recorded gusts up to 100 m.p.h and the barometer at the island weather station sank to an unprecedented 28.18 inches.

As in hurricane Carol 11 days ago, trees and utility lines bore the brunt of the blow on Cape Cod. Hours after the storm there were no reports of serious damage, although minor misfortunes like power failures were common.

Metropolitan Boston was raked by gusts up to 100 m.p.h., compared with 125 on Aug. 31. Five and a half inches of rain fell in about 18 hours. At the height of the blow downtown streets were virtually deserted, and public transportation suspended operations for an hour as a precautionary measure.

Shoppers World in Framingham, Mass., a suburban shopping development for the motoring public midway between Boston and Worcester, suffered damage as rain poured into the lower of its two levels of stores.

Shaken City Stirs After Earthquake

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria, Sept. 11 (AP)—Shops opened up again and braver citizens went about their everyday activity in this quake-shattered city of northern Algeria today.

Gov. Gen. Roger Leonard told a news conference the death toll from the disastrous 12-second jolt that wrecked Orleansville and surrounding villages Thursday would reach "substantially more than 1,000.

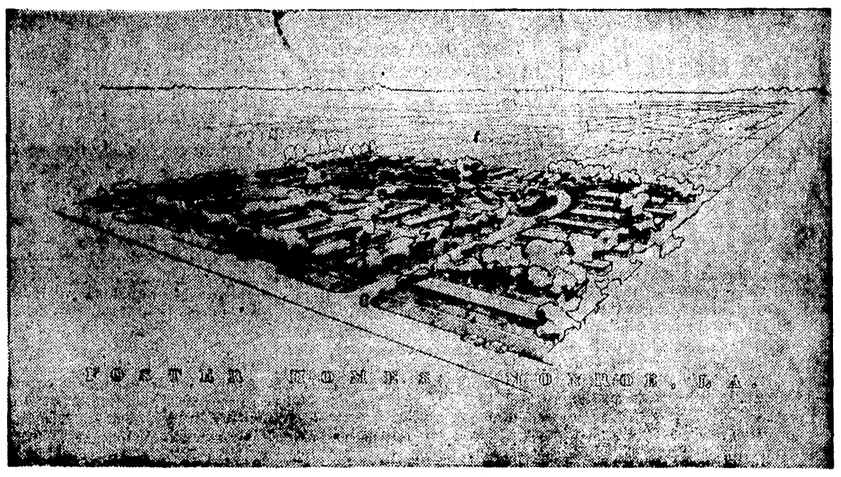
The devastation blanketed an area from the Mediterranean coast at Tenes to Orleansville, about 40 miles inland, and west from here 10 miles. he declared.

Leonard said siesmologists assured him the repeated small tremors of the past two days are ending. The Seismographic Institute of Algiers counted 69 mild shocks from the Thursday quake until last night.

New tremors were felt shortly after midnight and at irregular intervals thereafter, causing more damage to already smashed and crumbling buildings.

The town hall and other public buildings have been turned into chapels housing the caskets of the many unidentified dead, mostly from packed Arab areas where whole families perished.

Buzzards slowly circled stricken villages around Orleansville.



FORMAL DEDICATION of Foster Homes (above), last of Monroe's five housing projects to be completed, is scheduled to be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. The project, 175-unit dwellings for Negroes, is located on Swayze and Louberta streets, near the new Carroll High School.

shelter for low-income families whose economic status prohibits them from acquiring adequate privately-owned accommodations," he said.

"These are not federally-owned and operated housing units, but are under local operation and jurisdiction. This new project is Monroe's answer to slum clearance and rehabilitation and will give 175 Negro families an opportunity to help themselves toward better citizenship.

"We join with others in congratulating the city of Monroe and the Monroe Housing Authority for their attention to civic responsibilities, and we are confident the project is a partial answer to the need for better accommodations."

The completion of Foster Homes concludes the building program of low-rent housing planned for Monroe. The others were George Breece Manor, South First and Pecan streets; Louis Lock Homes on the Winnsboro road, both for white persons; and Dr. Arthur Johnson Manor and Carver Homes, both Negro units, on Texas Avenue.

H-Bomb's Effects On Weather Studied

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 11 (AP)—The World Meteorological Organization's executive committee decided today to investigate the alleged effects of nuclear weapons on weather conditions.

It instructed Dr. Gustav Swoboda of Czechoslovakia to conduct the investigation and report his findings.

Delegates on the 15-nation committee agreed that all scientific evidence hitherto available indicated weather conditions were not affected by the explosion of nuclear weapons. But the weather men reported receiving thousands of letters from persons unconvinced by the evidence.

Better Hang Up

DALLAS, Sept. 11 (AP) —The following classified ad appeared today in the Dallas Times Herald: "My husband's $50 scotties for a lot less. If he answers, hang up."

Monroe Woman Struck By Car, Is Hospitalized

A Monroe woman was reported injured last night when struck by a car in the 1700 block of Jackson street.

According to the report of investigating officers Zettie Robinson Beckwith, route one, was crossing Jackson street when she was struck by a car driven by Paul W. Jasper, 22, of 2208 Gordon avenue.

The injured woman was taken to St. Francis Sanitarium, where last night the extent of her injuries could not be learned. However, an attendant said she believed the Beckwith woman had suffered a broken arm, and other possible injuries.

Jasper was booked by Capt. Allen Corbin and Officer David Barnes on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and operating a vehicle in a criminally negligent or reckless manner. He was later released on $450 bond.

New Texas Holes Boost Oil Total

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 —UP— Texas' petroleum industry drilled 217 oil wells this week to boost the year's total to 8,398, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The comparable total a year ago was 7,149.

Gas well completions also continued at an accelerated pace, with 29 for the week and 885 for the year, compared to 648 at this time last year.

Dry holes numbered 103 last week.

The total average calendar day allowable as of today was 2,847,279 barrels, an increase of 9,509 barrels from the previous week.

'Loyality Pledge' Will Be Studied By Demo Group

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—Democrats announced today they will set up in a few days a special advisory committee on rules for their 1956 national convention to consider the "so-called or miscalled" loyalty pledge that rocked the 1952 convention.

The advisory group, authorized by the last convention, will be named in time to meet in Indianapolis next Saturday during a two-day national Democratic dinner and conference.

It will have power only to recommend changes in rules for the next convention since conventions themselves adopt their own rules.

The group, said a committee announcement today, also will consider rules for the "more expeditious handling of convention business" including recommendations for adapting the convention to television coverage.

Party officials have stressed the need for changing the rule allowing the polling of individual members of state delegations—a time-consuming device which many TV-conscious delegates found alluring two years ago.

National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said the membership of the advisory committee will be made public within the next few days.

He added it would have "widespread geographical representation" as called for under the convention resolution of 1952.

That resolution's language referred to the "so-called or miscalled" loyalty pledge put through in watered-down form after a serious split between North and South factions over a proposed requirement that delegates, to be seated, must pledge in advance to support the convention choices for president and vice president.

Even the adopted milder version — requiring delegates only to pledge that they would try back home to get the party nominees on the state ballots unless state laws or party rules forbade it—was rejected by some.

Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina delegations refused to take that pledge, and were seated only after great bickering and oral promises—made during debate—that convention nominees would appear on the ballot in their states.

Maine Election May Point Trend On Eisenhower

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 11 (AP)—The first state test of the Eisenhower administration's popularity comes in Maine's early election Monday.

And this year, usually Republican Maine should provide a real test. The Democrats are putting up a fight, particularly for the governorship, that hasn't been equalled in 20 years.

GOP leaders call on Maine's voters to "point the way" to the 47 states voting in November. The Democrats say the real issue is "what's best for Maine." And their slogan is: "Maine needs a change."

The administration is worried about control of Congress. Vice President Nixon, campaigning briefly while on vacation here, called for "an even greater" GOP majority than ever before to set a standard for the rest of the nation.

All the signs indicate he won't get it. Most of the state's political writers figure it this way:

The total vote should be 240,000 to 250,000—far off the 1936 state election record of 311,000 and even below the "off-year" record of 296,000 in 1938.

And, on the basis of a 250,000 total, they give Gov. Burton M. Cross (R) a second term over Democratic National Committeeman Edmund S. Muskie by a margin ranging from 9,000 to 20,000 votes. Write-in candidate Edmund S. Hiscock's influence should be negligible. He's an anti-sales tax Democrat.

Cross estimates a 45,000 vote margin if the total hits 250,000. Muskie wouldn't make a prediction, saying: "I'm no prophet."

GOP Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, who also seeks a second term, and Republican Congressman Robert Hale, Charles P. Nelson and Clifford G. McIntire, should have an easier time. But even their margins won't be as high as in the past, the political writers believe.

Negro Woman Fatally Shoots 'Conjure Man'

WASHINGTON, N. C., Sept. 11 (AP)—A Negro woman told police today she caught a "conjure man" without his magic shirt on and shot him to death because he had put a hex on her.

The victim, an 87-year-old Negro spiritualist-evangelist, was shot five times in his bed. Josephine Witley, his landlady, was held on an open murder charge, Police Capt. J. M. Woolard reported.

The woman told officers the man could not have been killed as long as he wore a certain shirt with a magic packet in its pocket.

The man was known here as the Rev. Kinzo Otto Devontenno Vi. He clamed he was a doctor of medicine, conjurer and magician from the Dutch East Indies. He had been here about three months, and listed a previous mailing address as Box 106, Filbert, W. Va.

A young woman told officers, however, that he may have been "just plain Rudolph Fulcher" of Pollocksville, N. C., and a third cousin of hers. She said she had heard that he left home about 1900 and recently had visited other relatives near here and reminisced about family happenings of many years ago.

The body was not claimed immediately.

U. S. suburban residents increased by 7,200,000 between 1940 and 1950, or two-fifths of the total suburban population.

Carnival Battle Brings Death To One; Two Injured

TRENTON, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—An unemployed concession stand operator was shot to death and two carnival workers wounded in a flare of gunfire on the jammed midway of the Gibson County Fair tonight.

One witness said the shootings occurred in a crowd so thick "it was almost impossible for the injured to fall to the ground."

The dead man was identified as John Patterson, about 56, of Gibsonton, Fla., who worked for the carnival until about six months ago.

Wounded were Curly Walters of Covington, La., operator of a hot-dog stand on the midway, and Mrs. Carl Herrick of Gibsonton, Fla., who sells balloons.

Benny W. Hottle, owner of the Bugg Hottle Shows, which was winding up a week-long stay at the annual fair, said Patterson was "taboo" to other carnival workers "because of his actions in the past." He declined to explain "taboo" further.

Both the wounded were taken to a clinic. Their injuries were not believed serious. Walters was hit in the arm and Mrs. Herrick in the leg.

Hometowners Cheer Ga. Governor-Elect

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Sept. 11 (AP)—Thousands of Georgians whistled and cheered here this afternoon as Decatur County's "favorite son" rode triumphantly home following his landslide victory in Georgia's gubernatorial primary Wednesday.

And they cheered even louder as Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, two months and a day after he opened his campaign for governor, brandished two blow torches sent by Thomas and Appling county supporters for him to "unfreeze" scores of state employees he charged actively campaigned for other gubernatorial candidates.

Disabled Veteran Kills Estranged Wife; Is Seized

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 —UP—A disabled war veteran shot and killed his estranged wife in a crowded downtown hotel cafe Saturday and was pounced on moments later by horrified hotel patrons as he attempted to flee.

Mrs. Juanita Coffey, 26, who had predicted her marriage would end in tragedy, was fatally wounded by three bullets fired into her head by her husband, James Coffey, 35, of Indianapolis.

A slightly-built bystander tripped Coffey as he attempted to dash through the lobby of the Sheraton-Gibson hotel. Coffey was immediately seized by two state liquor agents, Stanley Bomnes and Don Van Horn, who were paying their hotel bill at the cashier's window.

The agents were aided by a crowd of horrified diners who had poured from the hotel's "sidewalk cafe," and swarmed around the prostrate gunman.

Mrs. Coffey, mother of two small children, was a waitress in the cafe. Witnesses said she tried to flee when she saw her husband enter, but that he herded her into a cafe supply closet where the shooting took place.

Coffey said he told his wife, "You always told me it would end in tragedy and this is it."

"Go ahead and shoot'," he quoted her as saying. "You don't dare'."

"I shot her three times," Coffey told officers.

Liquor agents Bomnes and Van Horn said they saw Coffey dash through the door of the cafe.

"I saw this man running out of the cafe and somebody yelled, 'he just shot a girl,' said Bomnes. "I saw him try to pull a gun out of his hip pocket. The gun fell on the floor when he tripped, then Don and I went after him."

The dining room crowd, at first stunned, swarmed around Coffey, as the agents pinned him to the floor.

Mrs. Coffey was dead on arrival at general hospital.

Dewey Launches Fight To Elect Senator Ives

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11—UP—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Saturday night began the fight to elect Sen. Irving M. Ives governor to succeed him, and said the United States "no longer relies on the battlefield and the munitions factory" to give its people jobs.

Dewey — in his own words — "spoke out boldly in praise" of Ives, whom he called "the Republican candidate for governor." He called Ives "the only candidate mentioned today by either party who knows anything about the immense and important business of the state. He is no stranger to the job."

Dewey spoke here at an Erie county Republican dinner. He has refused to run for a fourth term, and the GOP is almost sure to nominate Ives in convention at Syracuse later this month.

Ives himself spoke in Schenectady Saturday, and warned that the new deal "would destroy our free economy" and, ultimately, free government itself.

He did not mention his candidacy for governor, but predicted the campaign would be "tough and strenuous."

FULLY WARRANTED

Children Given

cen issue of "Tales From the Crypt" by the editor urging readersof the comic book: "Wherever you can, let your voice and the voies of your parents be raised in proest over the campaign against comics." The comic book printing the editorial directed readers to conact their senators and oppose actons by the investigating subcommittee. Within the pages of the boo blaring the editorial were stoies of a madman who had poisoned the husband of the woman he'l loved, a murder dream, and the witch's cauldron.

An adult, reading some of the pullications to be found not only on newsstands in the Twin Cities but at neighborhood grocery stores, drug stores and other locations, can be haltingly amazed at what is within the covers of some comic books.

The covers themselves are bad enough. In bright colors they scream out, "Daring the Supernatural, Out of the Night," "Terror Tales," "We Dare You to Read These Eerie Tales From Out of This World," "Voodoo," and many others.

Not to compare with the covers are the inside stories depicted in exacting forms of sensationalism. In the October issue of Witches Tales, titles of the horror stories are Murder Mansion, Servants of the Tomb, Green Horror, The Thing That Grew.

The latest issue of "Startling Terror Tales" has within its pages trips entitled, The Strangler, Death's Calling Card, and Prison Panic.

From 80 to 90 million comic books are published monthly in the United States and admittedly many of these volumes are inciters to delinquency.

Throughout the nation citizens are taking notice of harmful comic books. Anti-comic books campaigns have been waged in Louisiana in Bastrop and recently the Washington parish police jury outlawed objectionable comic books.

Late in July the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges during their annual convention, demanded that "comic books and horror magazines depicting crime, sadism, vulgar sex and horror scenes" be outlawed from the newsstands.

In the Twin Cities area the Chamber of Commerce education committee and the Junior Chamber of Commerce comic book committee have made an evaluation survey and copies may be obtained at the C. of C. office.

Major points in objectionable comics, as evaluated by the teams of experts, include: poor art work and grammar; propaganda against American institutions or folkways; obscenity, vulgarity, profanity, and underworld language; prejudice against class, race, creed or nationality; treatment of divorce as glamorous or humorously; sympathy with crime and the criminal as against law and justice; criminal acts or moral violations; women used to glamorize crime; situations with sexy implications; and characters dressed indecently or unduly exposed.

Throughout many homes parents are not aware of what their children are reading.

Fortunately, not all children are interested in the crime comics. The biggest sellers are humorous, traditional comics. But for those curious youngsters with slanted tastes, the other type is easily available.

In fact they are in neighborhood stores in Monroe and West Monroe —they only cost 10 cents.

Banquet In Honor Of Gov. Kennon Set For Oct. 5

NEW ORLEANS Sept. 11 —UP— Citizens from every section of Louisiana will gather in New Orleans on Oct. 5 to pay honor to Gov. Robert F. Kennon for his selection as chairman of the United States Governors' Conference.

Kennon is the first Louisianian ever to head the conference which considers domestic problems and counsels the President on them.

The Chamber of Commerce of the New Orleans area and a state wide citizens committee are sponsoring the banquet. Both urged attendance at this non-partisan event.

Capt. Neville Levy (USNR-Ret.) prominent New Orleans businessman and chairman of the Mississippi River Bridge Authority, has been named general chairman for the testimonial banquet that will be staged in the brand new International Room of The Roosevelt in New Orleans.

Capt. Levy said Saturday, "All Louisianians, no matter what their political beliefs, should be proud that Gov. Kennon has been elected to head the United States Governors' Conference. The importance of this position transcends party lines and factional affiliations. Gov. Kennon will be in position to influence national policy on important domestic issues. We feel it is "proper and fitting that we honor him accordingly."

Captain Levy said that invitations are being issued to every governor in the nation to attend the dinner. He said that he expects "more than a dozen of them to come to Louisiana to participate in the tribute to Governor Kennon."

Gulf Causeway Held Feasible

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 11 —UP— An engineering firm reported today that its preliminary survey of causeway approaches to Ship and Deer islands off the Mississippi Gulf Coast was successful.

Hazelet and Erdal of Louisville, Ky., told the Harrison county board of supervisors that there "appears to be no foundation problems which would make the construction impractical or overly expensive."

The causeway linking the islands with the mainland was authorized by the 1954 regular session of the legislature. It will be financed by a bond issue in the coast counties of Harrison, Hancock and Jackson.

Pearce To Attend National Meeting

BATON ROUGE Sept. 11 —UP— Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Pearce left Saturday for Brainerd, Minn., to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Commissioners, Secretaries and Directors of Agriculture.

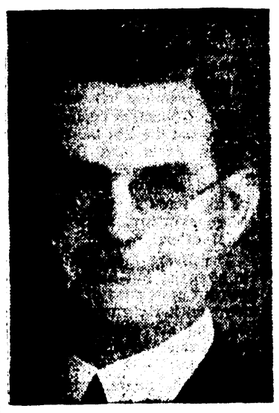
Pearce, a member of the national committee on plant industry, will be joined en route by Mississippi Agriculture Commissioner Si Corley. The meeting will last through next Friday.

From September 1953 to April 1954 (the off season) 20,849 Americans traveled to Europe—82 per cent more than the previous year.

HAS 100TH BIRTHDAY—Founded in a little frame building in 1854, this church today throws open its doors to celebrate a Century of Progress. Dr. L. T. Hastings, pastor for 25 years of this church, is returning to preach the morning sermon today. The church will have a series of events this week and next, including a great revival starting next week.

Hundred Years Marked By Joyful Membership Assembling Here Today

The most outstanding event in the history of the First Baptist Church in Monroe, will be entered on church annals locally when it will observe the completion of one hundred years of service to mankind and the spread of the Gospel of Christ to Baptists in Monroe. This centennial will be initiated today and will last with a great revival far into the current month.



The history of this the biggest church numerically in Monroe with its near 3,000 members has been carefully prepared in book form by willing workers who have devoted much time to the important project. This history and research committee has comprised J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Forrest Seaman, Leon C. Noland Jr., and A. L. Tatum.

This book, generously provided with pictures of pastors, leaders and building views through the years, will be available today at a small sum. It will be treasured indefinitely as a comprehensive record of events of this church through its entire history. The name of every member of the church alone will be something to be treasured choicely as the years go by.

At the morning service today, Dr. L. T. Hastings, pastor of this church for a quarter of a century and revered as a great church builder, will preach on the theme "The Living Church in World Service." At the evening hour, Dr. R. Q. Leavell, president of the Baptist Theological Seminary in New Orleans, will take for his sermon theme, "An Interpretation of the History of the Church."

Dr. James T. Horton, pastor of this church for the past five years, is responsible to a large degree, members declare, for the preparation on a large scale of this centennial. In this connection he states as follows:

"On the eve of this great event our church's atmosphere is one of excitement and expectancy thoughts of sacred memories, of renewed fellowship, of things that used to be, and of things yet to come. The days just ahead promise to be grand days — great in their relation to our Heavenly Father and as inspiration to our needy, grateful hearts. Events will follow swiftly through this important epoch in our church."

On Monday night, from 6 to 8 p. m., members and all friends of this church are cordially invited to attend a reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Horton at the church home 1303 Hilton street.

For convenience in handling the large number who will attend, it is asked that from 6 to 7 p. m. those whose last names start with A through F be in attendance. From 7 to 8 p. m. G. through L; from 8 to 9 p. m. M through R; and from 9 to 10, S through Z.

If transportation is needed, call 3-7503 or 3-2029 through the hours of 6 to 8 p. m.

In the historical book of the church that goes on first sales Sunday there are shown pictures of the first pastor back in 1854. He was Rev. John A. McGuire. The First church, a small frame affair was at the corner of St. John and Grammont street -- present church site — and was donated and erected in 1877 by the late Mrs. Phinetta B. Hasley. Her picture also appears in the book.

Photographs of church organizations are shown and are as follows: Sunday school, Training Union, Brotherhood, and W. M. U. The book contains pictures of the present pastor and family, the minister of music and education and family, organist, church staff, ushers, trustees, and other officers. Shown with special interest are photographs of the choirs, melody, carol, vesper, crusaders, chancel and the men's chorus.

The financial record gives details of total expenditures per annum, all purposes, from available records from 1897. Figures disclose that in the years 1953, the total was $156,521.33.

On Wednesday night, centennial pageant will be held in the church and Dr. Floyd Chaffin will speak on the theme "Louisiana Baptists Facing the Future."

Thursday and Friday nights there will be neighborhood prayer meetings in preparation for the revival that it is hoped will write a period of highly important history for this church.

By no means to be overlooked is the taking of the Twin City census on Sunday afternoon. District one will be in charge of John H. Bradley captain; district two, will be led by J. C. Holloway, captain; district three by George Holland, Jr., captain and district four led by Bill McDowell, captain.

Bill Husted Jr., will be the First Baptist census director.

Beautiful plates edged in old which contain a sketch of the First Baptist Church have been secured as keepsakes from the centennial observance. Mrs. Floyd Mathewes, Mrs. R. L. Grayson and Mrs. J. D. Reeves can be contacted by those who desire to purchase these souvenirs.

These plates will be on sale each night during the centennial celebration.

Dr. L. T. Hastings Rendered Great Service As Pastor

In the 25 years he served as pastor, Dr. L. T. Hastings was instrumental in the erection of the educational building which became vitally needed as the membership grew by leaps and bounds under his guidance and inspiration.

Dr. Hastings is attributed with being associated with the church when it made its greatest forward steps.

Today Dr. Hastings is a faculty member of a mountain theological seminary in Pineville, Ky., where he is unselfishly serving in the education of many less privileged men who seek to become Baptist preachers.

Dr. Leavell Is Delivering His Sermon Tonight

Dr. R. Q. Leavell, president of the Baptist Theological Seminary in New Orleans, is held in high esteem. Dr. Hastings will admit that he received an important part of his ministerial education when a student at this institution.

It is regarded quite fortunate to be able to secure Dr. Leavell to come to Monroe to participate in the Baptist Centennial.

Four 'Pachucos' Are Sentenced In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS Sept. 11 —UP— Four members of a "Pachuco" gang have been given $25 fines and placed on suspended 19 day sentences by municipal Judge Edwin A. Babylon.

Judge Babylon said he was "declaring war on the teenager hoodlums" who have been uncovered across the nation wearing the tell-tale tattoo mark on their right hands.

The youths, Edwin Schoenberger, Jr., 17, son of a city detective; Bernard Alfonso, 17; George Delorosa, 17; and Howard Gonzales, 18, pleaded guilty. They were apprehended after another youth, Stewart Brown, 19, was beaten near Lake Pontchartrain Wednesday night.

A fifth youth was set free.

Police Capt. Eugene Dakin asked parents to check their sons to see if they bore the mark of Pachuco. He said that even if they wore the tattoo of a cross and dots, they might not belong to the terror gang but merely be "showing off."

Senator Long To Deliver Address

NEW IBERIA, La., Sept. 11 —UP— Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) will be the feature speaker at the press-radio luncheon at noon Sept. 25 during the four-day Louisiana Sugar Cane Festival and Fair Association.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Provided the Cleveland Indians have sewed up the American League pennant and the New York Giants or Milwaukee Braves have settled the National League race by next week end, sport fans can switch more attention to football, and the gridirons promise some first-raters next Saturday.

L. S. U. and Tulane swing into action against the big ones right from the start with Gaynell Tinsley's Tigers visiting Texas in hopes of repeating the 20-7 upset of a year ago, and the Wave going to Georgia Tech with new coach "Andy" Pilney in hopes of avenging last season's 27-13 defeat. The Bengals just might come through but it looks like a bad Saturday for the Green.

Our smaller colleges of this section get busy, too, next Saturday with Coach Devone Payne, in his sophomore year as a Gulf States Conference coach and his first season here, takes the Northeast Louisiana State Indians to Hammond for a conference opener with Southeastern. Time was when a Lion-Indian clash was anybody's game to the finish, but Southeastern has ruled completely in latter years. The Lions should have the edge again, but Payne has the Tribe in a scrappy mood.

Louisiana Tech's defending co-champions come out of wraps at Ruston next Saturday night against Louisiana College, also a conference counter, while Northwestern's Demons are at home in Natchitoches to Central Oklahoma.

The national college fare offers a few other top-notchers Saturday—like Oklahoma at California, Houston at Baylor, Texas Tech at Texas A. and M., Maryland at Kentucky, T. C. U. at Kansas, Florida at Rice, Hardin-Simmons at Tulsa, Washington State at Southern Cal, Colorado A. and M. at Kansas State, and Oklahoma A. and M. at Wyoming. Most of the big eastern and midwestern teams will wait a week later to start.

The high school boys are already romping and stomping. Most of Louisiana teams were going strong by Friday night. It's still mighty early to begin tagging the various class champions, but northeast Louisiana's "B" kings may already be shaping up since Ferriday has moved up to Class A and the old district has been broken up into two leagues.

When Sicily Island beat Newellton Friday night, Coach Raymond Peace's Tigers took a high hurdle toward the district 3-B crown. Not all is settled for the Islanders, however. They still have at least two big ones to pass—Wisner and Waterproof. The Delhi Bears, again with championship aspirations, took the Start Owls easily enough in the conference opener and already loom as the big team in 2-B.

It'll take a few more games to start siding with the higher classification schools.

9 S. E. C. Grid Machines Open Campaign Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine of the Southeastern Conference schools open their 1954 football seasons next weekend, and three figure to be underdogs against power-laden intersectional foes.

Florida, Louisiana State and Kentucky clash with Rice, Texas and Maryland, respectively, proving that the old practice of starting off with breathers is going the way of the dropped-kick field goal. Texas and Rice are rated 1-2 in the strong Southwest Conference, — No. 1 in the country last year — and Maryland is being picked among the nation's top teams despite the loss of its entire 1953 backfield.

Georgia Tech and Tulane meet Saturday in Atlanta in the only SEC game. Tech, picked to win the conference title in a pre-season poll, will be a solid favorite.

Alabama and Mississippi, rated as top contenders for the 1954 league crown, jump the gun with Friday night openers against Mississippi Southern and North Texas State. The Alabama - Mississippi Southern game at Montgomery will have the nation's close attention. Last year Southern astounded the sports world with a 25-19 victory over the Crimson Tide. Mississippi and North Texas State collide in neutral Memphis.

Other Saturday openers send Georgia to Tallahassee against a tough Florida State team, and Mississippi State against Memphis State. The Georgia-FSU game will be played at night.

Auburn, Tennessee and Vanderbilt wait until Sept. 25 when Tennessee meets Mississippi State at Knoxville, Vanderbilt plays Baylor at Nashville and Auburn faces Chattanooga at Auburn.

An upset over Rice at Houston Saturday night could be the spark that would make Florida the dark-horse team of the conference. But even should the Gators surprise the Owls, there would be no breathing spell. Florida's next opponent is Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Blanton Collier of Kentucky, one of three new coaches in the SEC, inherited for his debut a game few coaches would want at the peak of their careers. Mighty Maryland comes to Lexington with its usual big, well-trained line and a set of backs calculated to make Terrapin fans forget Faloney, Felton & Co.

Andy Pilney's debut at Tulane is as chilling a prospect. The Greenies, last in the league a year ago and not expected to climb much, face a sophomore-studded Georgia Tech array which one southern sports editor picked to be the No. 2 in America. The third newcomer, Darrell Royal of Mississippi State, can relax until Saturday week when Tennessee will be out to avenge a 26-0 upset by the Maroons in 1953.

WHICH SHOTGUN TO CHOOSE? . . . We don't know where they got it, but quite a few new gun buyers have the idea that a 12 gauge shotgun puts out a bigger pattern of pellets than will a 16 or 20 gauge. That's wrong. In fact, if all three types of guns are bored full choke and high velocity shells are used the shot pattern will be the same. The only difference is that in the same pattern with a 12 gauge there will be 279 (size 6) shots while the 16 gauge has 251 and the 20 gauge, 223. The difference is slight but it reduces the 16's range 5 yards; a 20's, 10 yards. For more good tips on selecting the right gun stop in for some friendly advice by our experts.

Unbeaten Rocky To Defend Title Wednesday Night

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles clash again at Yankee Stadium Wednesday night and once more the undefeated Brockton blaster is an 18 to 5 favorite to ruin the ex-champion's bid for an unprecedented second title.

The big question of this return is how the June 17th 15-rounder affected the 33-year-old challenger. Did the savage beating he absorbed in the 15th round soften him up? Will he crumple early like ancient Jersey Joe Walcott did in his second time around with the mighty Rock? Or will he be a more confident and more dangerous opponent for having gone the full route without having been knocked down?

Marciano, you remember, flattened Jersey Joe in 2:25 of the first round of their return. The case history was bluntly pointed out to Charles.

"If I thought it would be anything like that, if I thought I couldn't win, what would I be training for?" the grim-lipped challenger said.

Charles said he intends to take advantage of Rocky's usually slow starting habits and go right after him. If he follows through the return could be even more exciting than their first thriller.

"He won't be waiting and I won't be either," said the Cincinnati Negro. "He starts slow and that's my chance."

"He'll be more confident this time," said Marciano. "He probably thinks I don't punch as hard as they said I could. I hope he does come after me. It'll be exciting all right.

"Going 15 rounds for the first time proved something to me, too," added the 30-year-old champion. The way I ended up after 15, I won't be afraid to start faster. I can go harder. At the end I really felt I could go five more against him."

This is Ezzy's third try—the most an ex-champion ever had — to regain the heavyweight title, a feat that eluded such former champs as Jim Corbett (twice), Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries, Max Schmeling, Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey and Jersey Joe Walcott.

The possibilities of an explosive battle and the glowing reports of those who saw the first one have been reflected at the boxoffice.

Promoter Jim Norris said he hoped to at least equal the 47,585 crowd and $543,092 gate of the June affair. The 15-rounder, starting at 10:30 p.m. (EDT) 9:30 p.m. (EST), will not be telecast into homes but will be beamed over a closed circuit into theaters from coast to coast with New York City and New England blacked out.

Rayville's Coach Is Guest On West Monroe Program

M. R. "Red" Campbell, coach of the Rayville High Hornets, and officials of the Rayville Quarterback Club will be special guests of the West Monroe Quarterback Club tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock when the Rebel boosters hold their regular meeting in the W.M.H.S. gymnasium, it was announced yesterday by C. E. McConnell, president of the West Monroe 'Backs.

The meeting of the Quarterbacks will be open to the general public.

West Monroe school officials yesterday said it had been planned to advance the Rebel-Hornet game to Thursday night to avoid conflicting with the Neville-Minden contest here Friday night, but the advance would also have conflicted with the big cancer fund drive scheduled for Thursday, so the Friday date has been allowed to stick.

Delta League's Finals Opening At West Monroe

The West Monroe Vols and Neal's Store open the championship finals of the Delta Baseball League this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the West Monroe playground.

Ralph "Red" Sims, manager of the Vols, last night said he will send Bob Bennett, his towering mound ace, against Neal's in the opener, while Louis Pipes, classy chunker of Calhoun, is slated to pitch for the invaders.

West Monroe reached the finals by winning two straight semi-final contests from Point, while Neal's moved up through the first round playoffs by taking two out of three from Breland's Curb Market of West Monroe.

Second game of the finals will be scheduled for next Sunday afternoon.

Mangham's Grid Machine Will Be Treated Monday

MANGHAM, La., Sept. 11 (Special)—The Mangham Quarterback Club will meet the Dragons of Mangham High School's football squad Monday night as the Quarterbacks entertain the gridders at a supper at the high school cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock.

State Pro-Amateur Meet At McGuire Club Monday

Leonard Warren, professional at McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, was making hurried plans last night to host the Louisiana Professional Golfers Organization's pro - amateur tournament scheduled for tomorrow afternoon over the McGuire course.

Warren was unaware that his club was to host the event until notified in the mail yesterday morning. The P. G. O. event caused hurried changes in golfing plans for this area as the regular Monday "dog fight" tournament had been scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Ruston Golf Club.

With the pros over the state, and the amateurs, moving into West Monroe for the pro-am, the Ruston "dog fight" is being postponed, probably until the following Monday, Warren said.

Visiting pros due here for the tournament include Gray Little, Lake Charles; Frank Champ, Ned White, and Everett Nelson, Shreveport; Ford Ames, Alexandria; Jack Finley, Tallulah; Shirley Picard, the long - ball hitter from Alexandria; Cliff Creed, Opelousas, Johnny Hame, Ruston; and Milo Mattinson, Bastrop.

Warren and other local pros, Hugh Britt of Municipal and Winnie Cole of Bayou DeSiard, are also due to compete.

All amateurs desiring to participate will be paired with the pros for the event which will be scored this year for the first time in the same fashion as the "dog fight" point system that is growing so popular with the golfers of this area.

'Old Pros' Grab Batting Laurels Of Texas League

By The Associated Press

Shreveport's Ev Joyner and Dallas' Les Fleming and Buzz Clarkson, among the best of the old pros of the Texas League, took the hitting honors today from the youngsters this season in the class AA circuit.

Fleming, 37-year-old Dallas first baseman and manager, finished the season with a .358 batting average, 14 points ahead of his closest competition, Beaumont's Eddie Kazak. If the unofficial figures hold up through a final check, he'll be the league's batting champion.

A late-season spurt sent Clarkson ahead of his competitors in the home run race, and he wound up with 42, one better than San Antonio's Frank Kellert. The veteran Dallas infielder finished fifth in the league hitting with .322.

Joyner took three titles, with 47 doubles, 213 hits and 121 runs scored. The Shreveport outfielder had a .328 mark to wind up fourth in the final averages.

Kellert, playing his fourth season in the Texas League, was the the runs batted in champ with 146. San Antonio's Joe Durham was the triples leader with 17.

Pitching honors wound up in a dead heat, as the league's only two 20-game winners turned in indentical records. Fort Worth's Karl Spooner and Shreveport's John Andre each had 21-9 marks.

Spooner was the league's strikeout king with 262 and the circuit's busiest pitcher with 266 innings pitched.

Lloyd Irwin, Trojan back, got away for the longest run of the evening, a 72-yard jaunt before being brought down from behind.

Joe Miceli Wins Unpopular Nod Over Bud Smith

CINCINNATI, Sept. 11 (AP) —Joe Miceli, New York, won a split decision over Wallace (Bud) Smith, Cincinnati in an overweight boxing contest here tonight. The decision of the nationally televised bout was loudly booed.

Miceli knocked out Smith in 1:19 of the fifth round in their first meeting last February. At the time, Smith was rated as the No. 1 challenger for the lightweight title. He now ranks sixth.

Indian Scrimmage Fails To Impress Coach Payne

The Redskins of Northeast Louisiana State, who open their grid slate in a Gulf States Conference game with Southeastern at Hammond next Saturday night, went through their first full scale game-conditions scrimmage last night at Brown Field here, and coach Devone Payne wasn't too happy when it was all over.

"We're up against it and there's no way around it," Payne said. "When you've got only nine men who have never played college football, and have to depend greatly on undeveloped talent just out of high school, the season's future isn't too bright.

"This isn't crying. It's plain facts. We of the coaching fraternity call 'crying coaches' those who are so well stocked they try to make everybody else think they're bad off when they're usually loaded. We don't have to cry, everybody knows the shape we're in, but we're determined to improve on what we've got and try to let our opponents know they're getting ball games."

After the 60-minute regulation scrimmage, Payne called his charges back on the field for 30 minutes more of corrective scrimmage as he sought to overcome mistakes displayed in the game.

The scrimmage had only one casualty when Charles "Bulldog" Calhoun, center, got a twisted knee early in the action, but it was not believed to be serious.

Hard work, with plenty of scrimmaging, is on tap again for tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday with tapering off to begin Thursday. The squad will leave here at noon Friday and workout that night on the field at Hammond.

Rivera Not Seriously Injured By Bean Ball

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Jim Rivera, White Sox outfielder, was hit on the right side of the head and knocked unconscious by Ed Lopat of the New York Yankees in the first inning of their final meeting of the season.

Rivera was not wearing a protective liner in his cap. The outfielder was unconscious only briefly. He was carried into the Comiskey Park clubhouse where he was attended by Dr. John Claridge, Sox physician. First reports were that Rivera was not seriously hurt.

Dr. Claridge, after an examination, said Rivera apparently suffered no ill effects from the beaning. As a precautionary measure, X-rays were to be taken.

Bums Again Top Braves To Regain 2nd Place

BROOKLYN, Sept. 11 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers regained second place in the tight National League tonight by backing up Don Newcombe's six-hit pitching with three home runs for a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The victory, Brooklyn's second straight over the Braves, gve the Dodgers an edge of two percentage points, .596 to .594, over the now third place Braves.

Brooklyn blasted out four runs in the first inning, getting three runs before a man was out, to give big Newcombe a lead he never relinquished.

Gene Conley started for the Braves, but he was knocked out after he faced only three batters.

Sicily Islanders Use Newellton's Fumbles To Win

SICILY ISLAND, La., Sept. 11 (Special)—The Sicily Island Tigers, taking advantage of eight (yes, 8) Newellton Bear fumbles established an early claim as the possible district 3-B title winners last night before approximately 1,200 fans by staying in front all the way to score a 19-13 victory over a Newellton team that couldn't hold the ball long enough to get ahead.

Newellton took the opening kickoff, fumbled to the Islanders on the Bear 38, got it back again when the Tigers fumbled on the Bear 35, then gave it away again to the Tigers on the 34. The Tigers then passed but a Bear defender batted the ball into the arms of Islander William Mount who raced across for the first score. Attempt for conversion was blocked. Even though the Bears gave up the ball on fumbles two more times after marching down the field, still the end of the half found them knocking on the goal lines.

In the early moments of the second half, the Bears fumbled again at midfield and the Islanders took advantage to pass to end Roy Evans, on the Bear one. From there a pass, Thurman to Nelson, scored another TD for the home team. Thurman booted the point after. But the Big Bear came back strong again and Buddy Emfinger, the big Bear fullback who played a real game, raced 61 yards through the Islanders to score standing. Emfinger ran the point after.

The Bears then held the Tigers to no gain, but immediately after getting possession of the ball, they fumbled it right back on their own 29, and the Tigers scored Alford on a pass. Attempt to convert was blocked.

Then the Bears, using plenty of replacements to relieve the heat and pressure, got halfback Ronnie Doyle loose for a fancy bit of footwork which netted an even 50 yards but traveled all across the gridiron down to the Tiger 10. Emfinger scored from the four, but his attempt to run the ball across for the point was stopped just inches short.

From then on the Bears showed they were a gallant and determined bunch by putting up a stiff fight for the ball but two more very costly fumbles just wouldn't let them score. Both Emfinger and Doyle handled their ball carrying jobs in a superior manner for the Bear eleven while B. K. Miller really did some fancy work for the Tigers. Nelson, Mount and Knoots starred in the line for the Tigers, especially on fumble recoveries while a 170-pound sophomore named John Wood rode to glory for the Bears.

Bunkie Fumbles Result In 25-0 Jena Giants Win

JENA, La., Sept. 11 (Special)— The Jena High Giants, scoring in each quarter but the third, after recovering fumbles, trounced Bunkie High here last night, 25-0, with halfback Ronald Manchester accounting for three touchdowns.

He scored from two yards out in the first quarter, climaxing a 30-yard drive after Edward Benson, Jena tackle, had recovered a Bunkie fumble. Benson booted his only successful placement kick after this score.

Another Bunkie fumble was recovered by Jena guard Richard Fewell on the 42, and Manchester again capped the drive with a two-yard TD plunge; and just before the half, Fewell recovered another fumble, with James Beach going over from the six after a 31-yard drive.

Center George Crews fell on a Bunkie fumble in the fourth period, and, after a pass play had netted 15 yards Manchester went around end for the touchdown.

Houtteman Tames Hose With 5 Hits For 15th Victory

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11 (AP) — Cleveland's Art Houtteman blanked the Boston Red Sox 3-0 on five hits today, and the victory — coupled with New York's 6-5 loss in Chicago—gave the Indians a 6½-game lead going into tomorrow's double header here with the second-place Yankees.

Houtteman, in defeating the Red Sox for the fourth time, gave the Indians a final record against Boston of 20 won, two lost and two tied. That compared with a record of nine out of 22 the Red Sox won from the Yankees this year and Boston's 13-9 performance against the 1953 Tribe.

A fifth-inning homer by Vic Wertz, his 14th of the season, broke a duel in goose-eggs between Houtteman and southpaw Mel Parnell, who went out for a pinchitter in the eighth. Houtteman went the distance and finished by getting Jackie Jensen to foul and striking out Harry Agganis and Grady Hatton for a 1-2-3 ninth.

The Indians got two more runs in the eighth on a single by Jim Hegan, Houtteman's sacrifice, a fumble by reliefer Ellis Kinder, and Al Rosen's double.

Rosen was on the bench with a sore leg muscle for the first seven innings, and Larry Doby, Cleveland's other power hitter, was on the sidelines for the entire game, also because of a pulled leg muscle.

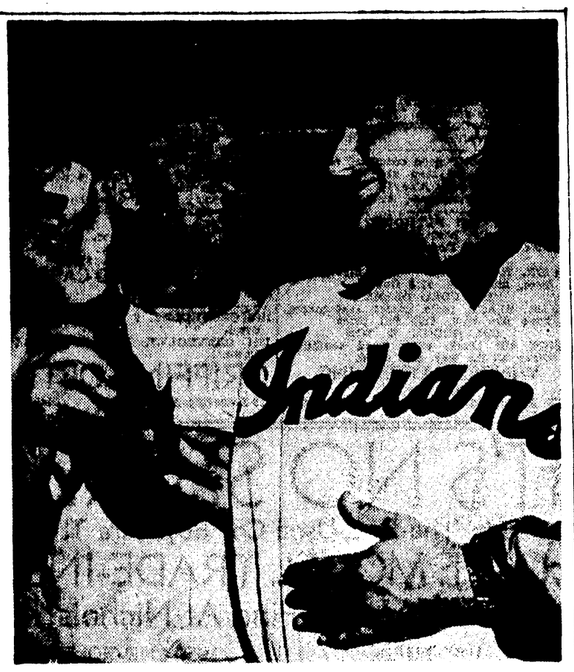
NEW CHAMP

MILAN, Sept. 11 (AP) —Nazareno Giannelli, Italy, last night outpointed Britain's Terry Allen in a 15-round fight to win the European flyweight limit of 112 pounds.



ARE YANKS THEIR NEXT VICTIMS?—The Cleveland Indians' 20-game winners, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn (holding ball) will try today at Cleveland to win their fourth each from the New York Yankees. Lemon, seeking his 22nd victory, has lost to the Yanks only once. Wynn, going after his 21st, has a 3-3 record against the defending champs. Each of the 34-year-old righthanders has hit the charmed 20-games-won mark in three of the last four seasons. (AP Wirephoto)

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—The New York Yankees, slowly dying kings of baseball, today were edged 6-5 in 10 innings by the Chicago White Sox to fall 6½ games behind league - leading Cleveland — the farthest they have been off the pace in Casey Stengel's six-year reign as manager.

Eddie Lopat looked as if he would bewilder the Sox again as he came up to the ninth with a 5-3 working edge. But he collapsed.

Pinchhitter Ron Jackson hammered one of the veteran southpaw's deliveries for a double. Nellie Fox sacrificed him to third. Minnie Minoso thumped another double to score Jackson. George Kell's single over second brought home Minoso with the tying run.

That was all for Lopat in his search for a 13th triumph of the season and third against Chicago.

Sherm Lollar led off with a double and pitcher Bob Cain ran for him. Fred Marsh was intentionally passed.

Ed McGhee, with the count 3-1, was yanked by Manager Paul Richards and Willard Marshall was sent to the plate. Marshall flied out.

Then Jackson forced Marsh, Cain going to third.

Chico Carrasquel, hitless in five turns, singled to left to score Cain with the clincher. The run was the first off Konstanty in 15 1-3 innings since joing the Yanks.

The magic number for the Yankees is now seven on a combination of Cleveland defeats and New York victories. The Indians picked up a full game with a 3-0 whitewash of Boston.

Delhi Chalks Up 33 To 7 Victory Over Start Owls

DELHI, La., Sept. 11 (Special)—Scoring in every quarter, the Delhi Bears, looming as the favored team to win the district Class B race sidetracked the Start Owls, 33-7, here last night.

George "Sonny" Sumlin ran 25 yards to open the scoring in the first quarter to put Delhi ahead, and Clyde Thompson went over on a sneak for No. 2 in the second period, and Sumlin added the point to give Delhi a 13-0 edge.

Start struck back for its lone touchdown before the half ended when E. Morgan passed to Joe Alford for the touchdown, and another pass, Morgan to J. Henry, added the point.

Roy O'Neal picked up a third Delhi touchdown in the third quarter, and Tommy Matthews ran for the point.

Clyde Thompson sneaked for a touchdown in the fourth quarter with Sumlin converting, and then Matthews ran the ball over three times before he could make the final touchdown stick. His first two runs were called back on penalties. O'Neal ran for the final conversion.

Senior Tide Halfback Suffers Injured Hip

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 11 (AP)—More bad news hit the Alabama camp today as Coach Harold (Red) Drew ordered a long, secret night practice in preparation for next Friday's game with Mississippi Southern.

Cecil (Hooty) Ingram, senior left halfback, is out with an injured hip and probably will not recover in time for action next week. Ingram was an All-SEC selection in 1952.

Lockman's Grand Slam Homer Pays Off In 7th Frame

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Whitey Lockman slammed a pinch home run with the bases loaded in the seventh inning tonight to give New York a 7-5 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs and widen the Giants lead in the National League pennant race to 4½ games.

New York's victory, plus Brooklyn's 5-3 win over Milwaukee, dropped the Braves to third place five games off the pace and moved the Dodgers back into second place.

Cincinnati, which hadn't won a game at the Polo Grounds until yesterday, appeared about to make it No. 2 for the season as pitcher Jack Collum hammered a second inning homer with two aboard and the Reds led 5-3 going into the last of the seventh.

Then the roof fell in on the Redlegs, who must have through hurricane Edna had returned. The game had been delayed four hours as groundskeepers mopped up the water from almost five inches of rain since last night.

Only 3,171 fans were out, and saw Howie Judson quickly replace Collum on the mound after Alvin Dark opened the seventh with a single.

Dusty Rhodes batted for Bobby Hoffman and popped out. Then Willie Mays hit a high one to medium center and Gus Bell lost sight of the ball which dropped for a double. Dark stopped at third. Hank Thompson batted for Monte Irvin and popped to shortstop Roy McMillan, and Judson seemed to be almost out of danger.

However, he walked Don Mueller on four balls to jam the bags, and Lockman came up to bat for Ray Katt. Whitey then proceeded to hit the facade on the right field stand for his 15th homer of the year and his second grand slammer of the season.

Playground Feature Taken By Undaunted

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP) — A crowd of 15,860, undaunted by early winds and rain, saw Brookfield farms' Impromptu score a thin nose decision over G. M. Cohen's Chuck Thompson in the ninth running of the $29,825 World's Playground Stakes.

Ridden by Sam Boulmetis, the homebred son of Pavot led most of the seven furlongs and was just up at the wire to take down the $20,775 first prize.

Favorite with the crowd, Impromptu returned $7.60, $4.20 and $3.20 across the board. Chuck Thompson paid $7.40 and $5.20, and Mary's Bubble's show price was an even $5.

Cook Headlines Kallio's Thursday Boxing Program

Boxing returns to Gus Kallio's Arena Thursday night, when middleweight Clarence Cook, Bastrop, tangles with Alex Cedillo, Durango, Mex. in the feature ten-rounder; and handsome Grover Bass, the Arkansas southpaw, takes on "Barefoot Boy" Tobe Harris in the six-round semi-final.

Two four round preliminaries complete the scheduled 24 rounds of fisticuffs, as Farmerville's Jimmy Evans meets Texan Bobby Flores in the 8 p.m. opener; and Gene Sargent, a clever Tallulah puncher, takes on lanky Farmerville crowd-pleaser Devane Garris in the second.

The top-notch card inaugurates the newly-remodeled Walnut St. Arena, which will now have expanded balconies, not post, and better seating and cooling facilities.

Cook, who has parlayed a lightning-fast left with plenty of speed and punching ability, has been described by veteran New Orleans boxing writer Ike Morales as "tall and skinny, with arms of steel." Tagged as the boxer to watch in south by Ring Magazine, Cook has impressed fans here and in New Orleans with his crafty ability. Formerly from Oak Grove, the slender leather-thrower in an up-and-coming fistic figure, whose every appearance here ensures a top-notch feature bout.

His opponent Thursday, Mexican Cedillio, is a veteran boxer who is rated an excellent chance of removing a rung from the ladder of Cook's climb to fame. The hard-punching Cedillio has fought 65 pro battles, mostly on the West Coast, and is noted for his strength.

Bass, who hails from McGehee, won his last bout at the Arena by decision, and became a popularite in the process. Reputed to fight only as hard as necessary to win, the Arkansas lad is certain to find it very necessary against Harris, a colorful fighter, who disdains shoes, likes to wear a coonskin hat, and has never fought a dull fight.

Johns, Davis Star As Bengals Given Game Scrimmage

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 11 (AP) — Louisiana State University conducted a fullgame scrimmage today in preparation for its football opener against Texas in Austin next Saturday.

Coach Gaynell Tinsley, sticking with the same first string lineup that began practice a little over a week ago, seemed pleased with the workout, but said considerable improvement is needed.

The first team, led by quarterback Al Doggett, racked up three touchdowns, while playing three quarters against the second team and a final quarter against the third team.

The second team, which scored one touchdown against the varsity, also got a full game's workout by engaging the fourth team for another quarter.

Chuck Johns and Tommy Davis each scored once for the first team and center Larry Jones ran for the final score. Davis booted all three extra points.

The score for the second team was made up by fullback O. K. Furgeson.

Relay Team Tussle At Kallio Arena Tuesday

The feature match will be two-of-three falls to win, with a 90-minute time limit, and will be officiated by West Monroyan Bill Barney. Two ten-minute time limit preliminaries, between opposing team members, are slated to open the evening's activities, the first beginning at 8 p.m.

The matches will be held in Kallio's Walnut St. Arena, which has been undergoing many changes of late, mostly in the expansion of the balcony and seating arrangement.

Murdock, who specializes in a paralyzing neck-nerve application, was defeated by Curtis in last week's main event, and never got a chance to use it. With Cronin on his team this time to soften Jack up, he may get several opportunities, for the elder Curtis and the Jackson, Miss. "Bad Boy" have always battled to crowd-pleasing, bruising battles, with equal results.

McCarthy won his semi-final match against Danny Dusek in straight falls last week, and looked very good. He will have to be good to withstand Cronin's tactics, which usually are to commit foul after foul until the opponent is so enraged he is easy prey for a lethal hold.

Ouachita Unit For Crippled Children Meets

The Center, first of its kind in the state, will be built on a site on the road leading to KNOE radio and television station here, and will adjoin the site selected for the Knights of Columbus home.

Preceding the conference, which was held Thursday in the Hotel Frances, Mrs. Jacqueline Leonhard of New Orleans, state executive director for the crippled children's organization, outlined plans for the center at a Rotary Club meeting.

Dr. Bert Heinberg was in charge of the club's program.

Dr. Hamilton is chairman of the Medical Committee and Curtis is with the architectural firm.

If the ball fringe trimming on your cafe curtains isn't as fluffy after that last laundering, let it dry thoroughly. Then, before ironing, hold the curtains and trimming over a steam kettle or steam iron for a couple of minutes.

A man's shirts worn with simple skirt is a wonderful housewear for a pregnant woman, but a few changes improve its appearance. Clip off the shirt tails and bind the bottom and collar with a printed fabric. Discard it when it gets even a little tight.

Monkey 'Peeping Tom' Is Shot

NEW ORLEANS Sept 11 —UP— Police shot and killed a "peeping Tom" monkey Friday after he caused an uproar in a residential neighborhood, including trying to crawl in the bathroom window while a woman was brushing her teeth.

Patrolman Howard Dey, who shot the large Rhesus monkey, said he had been "set wild" by teasing children and that he shot it for fear it would harm some of the children.

Monroe Fireman Injured Fighting Blaze In Forest

According to reports, Fireman N. F. Whitten suffered a partially severed toe when a plow, being used to cut a fire break, ran over his foot. Whitten was said to have been riding the plow, in order to keep it in the ground, when it hit a log, and threw him off balance. The plow then passed over his foot.

He was taken by Mulhearn ambulance to St. Francis Sanitarium, where last night his condition was reported as good.

An estimated 35 to 40 acres of pine timber was burned over, and although a sawmill and several houses in the vicinity were exposed to the fire, none were damaged.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Hatchell, Mr. Yancey

A prominent wedding of early fall was that of Miss Beverly Lois Hatchell and William Langston Yancey, Jr., of Rayville which was celebrated in an evening ceremony Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Wave H. McFadden officiated at the wedding before a background of smilax and tall candelabra garlanded with clusters of white chrysanthemums and holding many lighted tapers. Single cathedral candelabra entwined with white chrysanthemums and satin ribbons were placed at intervals in the aisle. Music was presented by Leon Hammonds, organist, and Garland Shell, soloist.

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory colored satin fashioned with close fitting bodice with sweetheart neckline formed of lace. Tiny satin buttons decorated the bodice and long tight fitting sleeves which came to points over her hands. The full skirt was accented with medallions of lace and swept into a cathedral train. The groom's mother was wearing a dress of aqua chiffon with a matching headpiece. Her corsage was of orchids.

Elna Jean Willis Says Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

In an impressive candlelight ceremony solemnized on Saturday, September 4, at 6 o'clock in the evening in the Clay Methodist Church, Miss Elna Jean Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss N. Willis, Sr., of Clay became the bride of James Cook Pennington, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pennington of Warren, Ark.

Baskets filled with pink gladioli and asters and tied with American Beauty satin ribbons flanked the tall cathedral candelabra holding the tapers. Arrangements of ivy and magnolia leaves formed the background for the ivy covered communion rail from where the officiating minister, the Rev. V. L. Westbrook, heard the nuptial vows.

Mrs. Charles Wade of Warren was organist and accompanied Miss Louise Humble of Calhoun who sang Because and The Lords' Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta. The skirt was fashioned with a hoop skirt and the close fitting bodice, sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins had short sleeves and a scalloped neckline. Her floor length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls and matching pearl bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was centered with a white orchid surmounted by fleur d'amour with satin streamers. On one streamer was the engagement ring, worn by her great grandmother, which has been worn by each bride in the family through the years.

Miss Martha Lillian Willis, sister of the bridegroom was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Gail Hood, Miss Katherine Nash and Miss Paula Torbet all of Ruston. Their gowns were of American beauty net over taffeta. The full skirts had close fitting bodices with portrait necklines outlined with puffs of net. They wore matching mitts of net and petite bonnet - type hats trimmed with silver ribbons. They carried fan shaped bouquets of pink pom poms and carnations.

Nelda Pennington, cousin of the bridegroom, from Houston, Tex., acted as flower girl. Her floor length frock was of American beauty net over taffeta with matching mitts and bandeaux. She carried a basket decorated with matching streamers, from which she scattered rose petals down the aisle.

Mr. Pennington served his son as best man. The ushers included Mac McCullen, cousin of the bridegroom, Paul Dupont, Donnie Walker, of Ruston, Charles Wade of Warren, Ark., and P. N. Willis Jr., brother of the bride, of Clay.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rockhold of Clay. Welcoming the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rockhold. Receiving in the living room were Mrs. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Pennington, the bridegrooms' parents, and the wedding party.

Miss Patsey Autrey was in charge of the brides' book. The Rockhold home was decorated with arrangements of American beauty roses, pastel asters, caladium leaves and lilies. The brides' table was covered with a white linen eutwork cloth, centered with four crystal candelabra and surrounded by the bridesmaids' bouquets.

News From The Public Library

Among the new books added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week, there are fiction and non-fiction titles of special interest. First, let's take a look at the fiction: "The fabulous journey of Hieronymus Meeker" by Willy Johns is called a satiric fable of the future. It closely resembles Gulliver's travels in plan, but it is concerned with space travel. You will have to read it to believe it. "The Toll-gate" by Georgette Heyer is another of her novels of Regency England, but the setting is in the countryside this time, instead of in London—She knows her period perfectly and the readers of her previous books will welcome this new one.

"American Captain" by Edison Marshall is a tale of adventure, set in the early years of the nineteenth century. It is a story of intrigue, love and mystery. You will not want to miss it. "Miscast for Murder" by Ruth Fenisong is an exciting mystery story, with the setting in New York.

There are two perfectly beautiful books about the far places of the world, among this week's titles. "Tahiti; voyage through Paradise" by George T. Eggleston is the story of a trip made by a small boat, through the Society Islands. The pictures are especially lovely. "From An Antique Land" by Julian Huxley is a story of exploration in the countries of Asia Minor. The photographs are particularly fine and many of them are in color.

"Doctor To The Islands" by Tom and Lydia Davis is the true story of a Polynesian doctor and his wife from New Zealand their efforts to establish themselves in the Cook Islands. It is a beautifully written story and one that should appeal to travelers as well as those interested in medicine. "Minutes Of The Last Meeting" by Gene Fowler is a sort of autobiography and one that is very funny. It has been high on the best-seller lists for some weeks.

Two of the new books are very useful ones. "How To Make Money From Your Ideas" by Ray Josephs contains wonderful information about making money from ideas which come to all of us. This book tells you how to go about selling these ideas and how you can really make money from them. "Showers for all occasions" by Germaine Haney is a new book full of ideas for making your showers more attractive and unusual. If you are planning to give such a party soon, be sure to get this book from one of the branches of your Ouachita Parish Public Library.

Natural Shades For Teen-Agers

Young teen-agers and their parents will be glad to know there's a way to avoid that age-old dispute: How bright a lipstick shade shall a beginner use?

One firm has a lipstick that just heightens the natural color of the lips, and is flattering for all skin tones. Formulated especially for teen-agers, it's made with pure lanolin, natural softening oils and quality pigments.

For the teen-ager using a tube of lipstick for the first time, remember to start applying it with your lips clean and dry. Hold the lipstick between your thumb and first two fingers, resting your little finger on your chin as a steadying influence as you apply the lipstick.

Start at the middle of your upper lip and follow your natural lip line to the right. Come back to the center of your lip again and repeat the procedure to the left. Then, apply the lipstick on your lower lip, using single strokes from side to side.

Contour crib sheets are worksavers because they never pull out at the corners, and they save on ironing tasks. They look smooth and dainty because they fit to shape when slipped over the mattress.

The bride's table was covered with an Italian cut-work white linen cloth and centered with a tall crystal epergne. The three tiered wedding cake embossed with delicate light green lily of the valley sprays was placed at one end of table. The punch service, was placed at other end of table. Mrs. Claude W. Allen served the cake and Mrs. Gus Hammons assisted at the punch service. Others assisting were Miss Darlene Pierce, Miss H. Gholson and Miss Shirly Ward.

Fragrance Adds To Charm

Good grooming isn't like wearing a dress—for now and then. It means constant daily attention to the things that complete the picture of the well-groomed girl.

It means a freshly-bathed look. And that includes a daily bath or shower. Daily use of a deodorant is in order, too. So is morning and night teeth brushings, followed by a mouth wash.

To prevent your dresses, suits, skirts and blouses from looking tired, see to it that they are laundered and dry-cleaned on schedule.

Remember to include fragrance in your beauty routine. For economy and femininity's sake, a spray of cologne is the most practical. For your campus packing, choose one with a leakproof bottle, uniquely shaped of clear glass.

D. B. S. Gives Annual Dance

The members and their dates were welcomed at the door by a sign which carried out the theme of the dance, "Stairway to the Stars." The ballroom was decorated with three dimensional stars hanging from the ceiling. Silhouettes of dancing couples, and a stairway leading to the stars covered the ceiling walls of the ballroom. The guests danced to the music of "Sleepy Spears" and his orchestra.

The installation of officers was held in the home of Miss Gaye Olcott. The outgoing officers present were: Gaye Olcott, outgoing president; Carolyn Futrell, outgoing vice-president; Dixie Johnson, outgoing recording secretary; Janice Strong, outgoing corresponding secretary; Carole Eady, outgoing treasurer; Sally Kennedy, outgoing historian; Jan Demmary, outgoing custodian; Mary Pat Welch, outgoing parliamentarian; Sandra Tooke, outgoing pledge advisor; and Dawson Ann Foreman, outgoing reporter.

Wait several days before washing new linoleum. Then use a damp cloth or mop and plenty of thick soapsuds. Rinse the linoleum thoroughly and allow to dry completely.

Cotton Is Leading Fabric For Winter

Roamin' in the Rural must be short this week, as one of the secretaries is away on a week's vacation and the other is serving five agents.

DATE REMINDERS:

Don't forget the Council meeting September 18, 10:00 a.m. and the Home Management Leaders Training September 28 at 9:30 a.m. Several have called in for Fair dates—October 11-16th. At your next club meeting make plans for your club to have a group to work in the concession. The concession is being built. The committee met with Mr. Birdsong September 1 and worked out the details.

SHOPPING FOR THE TEENAGE GIRL:

While on my vacation, I had the privilege of shopping with my teenage grand-daughter. Do you remember that "awful age" of awkwardness—and being hard to fit? My, but clothes mean a lot to this age girl and she knows what she wants, or does not want, like or dislikes — She realizes proper clothes will do much to tide her over this awkward age.

Stylists and designers have recognized the teenagers' problems and are creating flattering fashions for them. For the girl on the slightly "plump" side, you can find simple necklines, fitted bodices and graceful flares which aid in giving poise. For the less "plump" teenager there is the pencil skirt, boxy jacket and large Sailor or rolled collar.

Fabric manufacturers are also conscious of this age girl's needs and recognized fabrics play an important part in subduing their awkward traits. There are many beautiful fabrics of dark-toned cottons in slim-wale corduroy, cotton to look like wool flannel, challis, and tweed. We found winter cotton is leading at the piece goods counter and in the ready-to-wear departments. These cottons have been designed for winter wear. Turn the color wheel of fashion this Fall and you'll find a deep-hued richness in the Fall look. The teenager's fashions turn away from the pale tints to the winter tones of dark reds, dark greens, dark browns—from spice shades to chocolate and cocoa hues. Orange glows as the brightest accent color of Fall—It adds gay emphasis to greys, brown, or navy.

These fabrics have been designed for winter wear—some are crease resistant or treated to hold pleats and other details which also help to give the teenager a more graceful and poised look.

Save any corks for your sewing kit. A good-sized cork is just the thing to cover the edge of your sewing scissors, as well as extra needles and straight pins. This way, you'll never risk a hand cut reaching into the kit.

President, First Lady Are Shoe Conscious

The President and the First Lady are among the most shoeconscious folks ever to occupy the White House. Both have a meticulous sense of footwear fashion and both have a very extensive shoe wardrobe.

Mamie's favorite shoe is the pump. She has a great variety of them. She never wears high heels, she likes to match her shoes with her clothing colors, and hence has a good variety of "matching" shoes.

Because foot comfort is so important to her, she changes her shoes every day, never wears the same pair two days in a row because she thinks that consistent wearing of the same pair isn't good for her or for the shoes.

Her daytime shoes are mostly pumps and straps. For evening wear she has a selection of sandals. She never wears more than a Cuban hight heel — about two inches or slightly more in height.

Mamie isn't the athletic type, but for sport or resort wear she may don a pair of white or light-colored wedges of medium heel height. There's no official count on the number of pairs Mamie owns, but the White House says it's "very many." In short, Mamie likes shoes. She wears a size 6½B.

Shoes For Men At Work Getting More Attention

There's a movement afoot to provide better looking shoes for utility wear, plus added comfort features which are health aids to the man who works on his feet.

In the latter category come the wedge soles, in steadily increasing demand. The cork rubber composition sole, light in weight, practical, is another popular feature. And the built-in arch support, properly fitted, helps to insure against foot fatigue with long hours of standing.

The cushion insole has proved a boon and more and more workers are asking for it, having once tried it. From a health standpoint there is probably no feature more important than the insole which will not shrink or harden when damp.

No excuse now for the man to use old shoes from his regular wardrobe to wear on the job. Nothing is worse for the foot. New work shoes are not only designed by experts for a particular job but are well-styled also.

Leathers are more supple than they used to be, while still designed to hold their shape. The plain toe is the preferred style, and the very popular two-eyelet chukka shoe, a favorite in town and country shoes for general wear, has made its appearance in the work shoe field.

Boots still continue, since they are a necessity for the man who works on the land. The pull on boot with the composition cord sole has proven both practical and popular. In addition, there is demand for the eight and ten-inch lace boots.

The well informed salesman in the work shoe field now has, at the tip of his tongue the work shoe which meets the specific need of the customer according to his job. And it is this specialized fitting that makes even a higher priced shoe a real economy in the long run.

Maybe you never ran a machine or plowed a field. But with the present "make it yourself" craze that's sweeping the nation you may be building a house, painting a fence, planting your garden or making a boat. And you'll find these new types of work shoes just the thing for those strenuous week-end activities.

New Pale Leathers Challenge White For Wear To Classroom

Don't say that kids don't stick to their favorite fashions. For how long have they been religiously scuffing up their new white buck shoes to get that dog-eared look required for smart classroom wear.

Parents have pleaded in vain, that a nice white shoe cleaned from time to time really looks smarter. Shoemakers and salespeople have shuddered at the mayhem performed on new white shoes.

This fall there will be school shoes in pale smoky tones—shades such as the new smoked elk, just between white and grey.

These colors come in smooth leathers, grains and buck and nicely approximate the general tone which the school boy likes, without looking quite so garish. In some instances the oxford or stepin is is made in solid color, in other cases the smoky shade is combined with black, blue or brown.

It's a good try, anyway. But the boy who has a feeling for the original will probably go right on demanding the white buck oxford with the red cushion sole on which he can do his own personal landscaping.

At any rate, stores are stocking both to be on the safe side when school opens.

Taller Women Now Wear Longer Shoes

A couple of generations ago a women's foot or shoe size of 2 or 3 was quite common. But a foot-healthier, more active generation that followed grew larger feet, and shoe sizes of 5 and 6 became common. Today, with the average woman taller and her feet longer than those of her grandmother or mother, sizes 8 and 9 are very common.

Nor is it rare for shoemen to get calls for sizes 11 and 12. In fact, there are some stores that cater strictly to women with long or large feet, and these stores carry sizes up to 13.

CASUAL NEWS THIS FALL for the boy who's tough on shoes, are flexible, sturdy leather moccasins, with cleverly designed elastic inserts to hold the foot firm and snug.

Diversity Is Highlight Of New Styling

It's true that parents groan when small brother or sister needs that new pair of shoes. But more and more the wise ones plan at the beginning of the season a shoe wardrobe which will save on wear and tear, protect the child's feet and save money in the long run.

This fall there is every incentive to outfit the child properly. Never have designers furnished so many new and appealing styles to choose from.

These would include a pair of school shoes, a pair of daytime best, a pair of party shoes (at least for the small girl) and a pair of rugged play shoes for the weekend, to save looks, wear and tear on the important school shoes. And a pair of slippers when bathtime is over and an hour of TV sets in.

The school shoe is perhaps the most important of the whole setup. Important for looks, for comfort, for wearing quality. And all of these essentials have been taken into consideration by the designers of children's shoes.

Important Materials

Smooth calf and grain leathers are the two most important materials for school wear. But new lighter tannages make these a far cry from the stiff heavy oxfords that took weeks to break in, with a consequent toll on small and tender feet.

Fitting is extremely important. And forward looking stores now provide an expert supervisor who does nothing but check on the fit of the shoe which the child or the mother has chosen. They also provide a system whereby the child is reminded every three months to come in and be checked for size since the average youngster's foot grows a full size in three months.

Construction is lighter, more flexible, easier on the foot without impairing the wearing quality of the shoe. And lastly styles in school shoes offer much more variety and eye appeal than a few years back.

Little girls' school shoes include oxfords in kiltie or ghillie types as well as the conventional three-eyelet, strap shoes, moccasins, slipons and sabot types.

For little boys there are new interpretations of the monk strap, gored or elasticized laceless shoes, and a great variety of oxford styles including straight tips, moccasin fronts, wing and U wing styles, two and three-eyelet treatments and the basic saddle shoe.

New Glove Leathers

In materials, there is more interest in glove leathers. Black has a new interest in boys' shoes, and navy blue brushed leather is popular. In addition to tans and browns, always basis, there is interest in lighter shades such as camel. Combinations of suede and calf, and the new cashmere - soft shrunken leathers are news in shoes for boys.

In dress shoes for little girls the strap is still supreme, with emprasis on the simpler single or double strap rather than the multiple strap treatments of previous seasons. Three types of slippers are important. The classic Many Jane (especially good for the smaller child), the shell and the pump. In almost every instance there is some delicate vamp decoration which does not interfere with the lines of the shoe, but adds a delicate party air.

The boy's daytime dress shoe is preferably a smart version of the U or wing tip oxford or tassel moccasin in well polished black or brown leather. In most instances this also does duty for party wear, at least until he's ten or twelve.

Retailers Offer Best Guide To Shoe Fashions

If yon take advantage of the great fund of knowledge possessed by today's shoe retailer, it will take much of the guesswork out of selections in footwear to coordinate with your costume.

The average consumer may not realize it, but shoe retailers are serious students of fashion trends —and especially of how and where various types and styles of footwear fit in with those trends for any given season.

For example, the shoe industry makes a thorough investigation of color trends well in advance of season. These colors are translated into leathers, then into footwear. The shoe colors are perfectly attuned to color trends in wearing apparel for men and women.

Shoe trees can more than pay their way by helping shoes to keep their shape longer. They should be used habitually.

Today's Shoe Values Best Of All Times

While consumers try to cope with the cost of living, footwear has proved one of the "softer" items on the budget. It may come as a surprise to many, but since 1946 shoe prices have risen only 22 per cent. On the other hand, the cost-of-living index has risen over 37 per cent.

Average consumer incomes have risen much faster than shoe prices. For example, 20 years ago it required 5.7 hours of work to earn the price of an average pair of shoes. Today it requires only 3.1 hours of labor to buy a comparable average pair.

The industry strives constantly to deliver a better product.

FOOT HEALTH RULE

Get In Step With Style For Autumn

There's plenty going on in men's shoe fashions this fall. From being probably the most conservative spot in the fashion field, men's shoes are bursting out with all sorts of new ideas—new leather treatments, new colors, new patterns to tempt man at last into really owning a shoe wardrobe.

He's going to be surprised at how practical the idea is. Really saves money. Shoes last longer, hold their shape better and of course look lots better when the shoe fits the occasion as well as the man.

There's a strong trend toward differentiation between the town and the country shoe. The all-purpose shoe is a thing of the past as far as the well dressed man is concerned . . . and a good thing for all concerned.

Town shoes are cut on slimmer lines—a bulky shoe looks all wrong with narrower trousers which fall in straight lines from the hips. Shoes are lighter in weight, more flexible, easier on the foot. Dark colors are in accord with the trend in ready-to-wear. And the black shoe emerges as the really BIG NEWS for fall!

Black For Style

Men used to buy black shoes for economy. Now they are buying them for style. And it's the younger men, right down through the college set that have put the seal of approval on the black shoe for smartness.

But black isn't the whole show, of course. The brown family is well represented with emphasis on the darker shades for town. But next to black the fashion spotlight is on dark shades of cordovan, wine, burgundy and deep mahogany which accord handsomely with charcoal tones of grey, brown and blue in fall suits.

There are some grey shoes, too. Dark graphite tones in calf and brushed leather and combinations. However, these and the blues are more in the town-and-country category than strictly for town wear.

The slipon has become a great American fashion and will continue to be popular this fall. In black or dark polished leather, conservatively styled it's a favorite business shoe for the young executive type. However, laced shoes are holding their own, and even outdistancing the slipons in many places.

Long, Slim Vamps

The classic straight or wing tip and the newer U wing look smartly different with the new low top, longer, slimmer vamp line. Highly polished, they're a far cry from the standard laced shoes of ten years back, and appeal to young as well as older wearers.

In the town-and-country and casual field there is a wealth of shoe fashions with new ideas in styling, new colors, new leathers. Coming right up in front are the one and two-eyelet ties with long low toplines—a shoe with an air and one of the outstanding developments of narrow wall types in contrasting color or leather which emphasize the long slim line that is so definitely the thing.

Colors in two-and-country shoes, whether slipon or laced have more life and depth than last season. The polished look has great appeal, especially for the younger man.

Aniline-finished smooth leathers have rich depth and lustre and are now available in a wide price range. The natural beauty of the leather is enhanced by the aniline dye.

TEEN-AGE FASHION

Men's Casuals Now Favored Year Round

When men's "casual" shoes were introduced some years ago, this footwear belonged almost wholly to summer and sports wear. But today many of these shoes are worn year-round.

Frankly, the shoe industry was a bit surprised to see that men continued to wear these easy-on shoes beyond summer. That was the cue for the shoe designers to come up with many new types of casuals that could fit into practically any season and a wider variety of uses and occasions.

One particularly important development along this line was the "dressier" type of casual—dressier slipons, moccasin and loafer types, tassel ties, zipper types, etc. So smart-looking were these casual shoes that men took to wearing them for business and dress purposes. And today you can see the casual almost anywhere and at any time of the year.

And perhaps with good reason. Survey after survey shows that in footwear, comfort is the first point of appeal and demand for men. The casual shoe has that comfortable feel and looks comfortable, besides.

Men have discovered that the casual shoe isn't a replacement for regular dress and business footwear. It's an extra shoe for the wardrobe—just as slacks and sport jacket, or separate trousers and jacket are additions to the clothing wardrobe that contains business suits.

Studies show that men are buying more "special-purpose" clothing. The casual shoe fits into this category, as a special-purpose item that brightens the whole wardrobe.

Shoes For Baby Lot More Than Foot Covering

Mothers have discovered that shoes for babies and tots can be a lot more than a foot covering. Just as modern toys combine entertainment with education, so shoes for little ones are combining three important things called "function, fashion and fun." In short, shoes for baby have taken on a new look.

The "function" part of a shoe is simply what might be called its performance value. Above all, the shoe has to fit properly, help the foot to function in a free and natural way. That's basic. So all the important "functional" values are built into the shoe.

But today's mothers want more. They want the shoe to look pretty and cute. So "fashion" has come into the picture—yes, even in babies' shoes.

There's a great deal more variety in styles. You have more choice among both high-top and low-cut shoes. There's lots of color—from the bright reds and browns and blues to the softer pastels.

Spark Up Shoe Wardrobe With Newest Suede

To spark up your wardrobe, try one of the new shoes of suede with luster leather. It can be as dressy or as casual as you please.

Grey is news in clothes and shoes. And nothing could be more town-wise than the shoe of oxford grey smooth suede trimmed with matching luster calf or kid.

On the casual side, the grey town and country shoe comes in flannel with lacings, pipings or other trim in matching or lighter grey. This need not be a campus shoe, as flannel is a leader in both tailored and casual clothes this season.

WOMEN WEAR MORE

Women today are buying more shoes than ever before. Until the mid-thirties the average woman bought three pair a year. Now she's buying a half pair more. Casuals and play shoes get the credit.

ROMANS WENT ALL OUT

Back in the ancient days of Rome, the male who could afford it really went all out with shoes. Emperor Aurelian reserved reds, yellows and green for himself. Hadrian wore sandals decorated with gems. Heliogabalus never wore the same pair twice.

Destined For Popularity

GRAINED LEATHERS NOW CASHMERE SOFT, as in this two eyelet moccasin tie for wear with country tweeds, are destined for great popularity this season.

Step Out In Style This Fall With New Shoes For Every Occasion

Dressmaker Pump Leads Style Trend

Fall Shoes Have New Silhouette And Taper Toe

Prettier, more delicate, more feminine. That's the theme in women's shoe fashions this season. These shoes look as though they were made to order for new fall costumes. The line's the thing in both, the custom made look of delicacy and charm.

Pumps are in the lead, and both open and closed patterns are in demand. The closed pump with fine dressmaker detailing looks particularly smart for first fall wear.

The trend is toward a definitely slimmer, more tapered but not extremely pointed toe. This trend emphasizes the new elongated fitted look which is also a feature of autumn suit and dresses.

Heels Slim, Graceful

Heels must be slim and graceful, whether they are high or medium. And this year there is a much wider choice of smart new patterns for dress wear on the medium heel height.

Women who have grown accustomed to the lightness and ease of the open shoe will certainly go on wearing it, especially in the early autumn season. However, for street wear, the wide open, naked look has given place to modified, more elegant town treatments.

A favorite is the closed back open toe pump on both high and medium heels. Another popular and pretty fashion is the halter pump with open toe, more closed up vamp. Wide toe openings and the naked look are definitely for cocktail and semi-formal wear.

Suede is better than ever this fall—suede in black, navy and brown. In addition to these, however, don't overlook the grey suede shoe. It has the look of elegance which is the keynote of all fall fashion.

Variety In Colors

However, suede doesn't tell the whole story by any means. The polished leathers are going in for elegance too, lighter, more supple, in some wonderful autumn colorings.

The aniline finish, which gives depth and glow to calfskin are wonderful in benectine shades, warm browns, grey, new fall greens and a rich glowing red. Just the thing with softer, more citified tweeds which are a big fashion this year.

The reptile shoe, alone or in combination with suede or calf, is another good companion piece to town tweeds. Here the news is the high luster finish which makes the reptile colors glow to highlight the costume. There's a fall rust which is wonderful with many costume shades, the beiges and greys, the greens, even black and navy.

Black and reptile with this new shine contrasts with black suede or is used alone in some very sleek city shoes. Red reptile is a nice exclamation point for a neutral costume. And the ever present grey shows up particularly well in reptile shoes.

Decorative Touches

In all types of shoes there is a trend toward decorative touches. Very restrained however. Never interfering with the lines of the shoe.

A bit of embroidery, touches of satin, grosgrain or braid, the glint of nailheads — these are all effective particularly on the shoe of suede.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE

In parts of Mongolia custom requires that the father of the bride provide the groom with a five year supply of shoes as a reward for taking his daughter off his hands.

JEWELS FOR YOUR FEET are these new, brilliantly-colored Chandori lizard pumps for Fall. A jewelled strap crosses in front, and the heel is held snug by an exclusive "soutien" suspension-back.

Shoes For Daughter Match For Mother's

A recent innovation has been identical shoe styles created for mother and daughter, or father and son. First introduced as a novelty, it met with such popular response that today many shoe stores are carrying these combination lines. And many handsome models have been made available.

It all stems from basic psychology. Little girls and boys like things with a "grown-up" look. Every mother has been amused at the sight of her little girl scuffing around the house in a pair of mother's high heel shoes.

Reptiles Feature Dramatic Touch Of Pale Colors

Maybe the leopard can't change his spots, but the snake can certainly change his skin, as witness the new glamorized reptile shoes for both street and after-five wear this coming season.

Reptiles have been pearlized until they gleam like moonbeams, or shimmer in pale tints or blue, rose and mauve with a pearly overcast. They can be a ripple of molten gold or silver to add a dramatic touch to the formal evening dress or simple black cocktail or dinner costume.

The open sandal is the preferred type in these exotic materials. Just a flash of leather on the instep with wide open vamp and halter strap of matching or contrasting material such as patent, satin or crepe.

There are fewer of the stripping sandals shown in reptile, but many smart new versions of the envelope camp which encloses the foot like a shell, leaving the toes exposed.

High, slim, delicately curved heels of the reptile add to the air of formal elegance which is the keynote of these exciting new slippers for fall and winter party wear.

In addition to the all-reptile shoe, these metallics are effective trim for more conventional evening shoes of suede, crepe or satin, with heel, pipings, inlays or straps of the snakeskin.

Wide Open Sandals Rule 'After Five'

The naked black shoe is the undoubted queen for cocktail and dinner wear. The less shoe, the more fashion is the rule.

They are smartly, starkly simple in line, almost functional you might say, created to set off the beauty of the foot rather than call attention to their own patternings.

There are many mule types, a style that is growing in acceptance. A band, sometimes jewelled, over the instep leaves a wide toe opening. The band may be plain or it may be shirred or pleated in the popular dress-maker style.

Fluid line slings are another big favorite. They consist of a vamp, a heel, a single slender strap that winds in an asymmetric line around the back of the ankle. Or it may be a slim halter at the back which moors the shoe. Naked back, more covered toes seems to be the fashion after five.

The T-strap follows the same rule. It's lighter, more graceful. If it's made of fabric, folds or tucks of the material may form vamp and T-strap, held on by the slim anklet.

Black is probably the smartest color, followed by brilliant accent shades and metallics. Blacks in suede, in velvet or satin go along with the current vogue for black sheaths or bonffant cocktail dresses. Stark white, pale begie or champagne, are other favorite semi-formal shades.

Men Once Wore High Heeled Shoes

The modern male is supposed to be conservative about his clothes. Nobody knows why. But in other eras, during the time of Queen Elizabeth, for example, the well dressed male wore shoes of bright colored satin with heels fully three inches high.

It was King Henry VIII who brought in a vogue for wide toes. He suffered from gout. His bootmaker devised a decorative yet comfortable shoe for him. Court dandies did the rest.

THAT BOYISH LOOK

The boyish look, reflected by shirt styles the girls have copied from their male friends, has influenced styling of their shoes. Trim tailored ghillies, moccasins and pumps are now on the list for fall.

News From Public Library

On the last night at Wawbansee, campers and staff gathered for a formal flag ceremony in charge of the Persimmon Hill unit, then went into the dining hall where tables had been arranged banquet style and decorated by Fern Unit. For the extra-specially good supper, counselors acted as hoppers, reversing the usual order. A "hopper," as you have probably guessed, is the girl who sets the table and then sits next to the hostess, ready to hop up to get anything needed during the meal.

Yvonne Huckabee, elected by camp council for the job, served as mistress of ceremonies for the program which followed the meal. Singing of favorite songs, led by Julie Wooley, a contribution from each unit to the program, and badge certificates given out by unit leaders and waterfront staff made up this part of the program.

Betty Rose Haddad voiced appreciation to Mrs. Carter, dietitian and to the cooks for the good food, and presented each of them with a metal pin tray she had etched. Staff presented the much-surprised director with a gift. Guests for supper were camp chairman Ethel Easterling, husband, Robert and daughter, Barbara, W. H. Shirley, whose wife was Fern unit leader, and "Pat" Patrick who, insists that her contribution to Scouting is that she lives with Annis, our executive director. At any rate, Annis says Pat was a big help at camp because she made trips at the beginning and at the end of camp, taking staff and equipment.

After supper, the group filed down to the lake, where they lighted candles on little bark boats and set them adrift with a wish. They were a pretty sight bobbing around on the dark water until they went out.

Looking back, those girls who qualified to take canoeing will probably remember the classes as great fun. Earning the canoeing badge were: Brenda Cobb, Diane King, Lea Thompson, Nancy Wilson, Patty Prophit, Yvonne Huckabee, Nike Poulos of Winnsboro, Dee Wallace, Beth Fink, Joan Williams, Mary Jo Strausser, Ginger Donald, Sue George, Tommie Sue Whitfield and Marilyn Hewitt.

All of the above who had not previously done so earned the swimmer badge, the following also qualifying: Mitzi Baughman of Farmerville, Marretta Heidenreich, Carolyn Thompson and Bonnie Dupuy.

Caddoan Club Plans Program For New Year

The first meeting of the year for the Caddoan Club was held Monday night at Community Hall. Mrs. W. P. Smith, president, received the year books for the club from Mrs. W. A. Shaw, committee chairman. Mrs. J. G. Cabuk planned and executed the covers and applique art work throughout the books. With the assistance of Mrs. J. M. Poole and Mrs. W. M. Rolfe a well rounded program on Fine Arts has been prepared during the summer. Various phases will be developed by club members and guest artists. During the year Miss Edith Cotton of Louisiana Tech will speak on "Music As an Enjoyment in Living"; Mrs. Herschell Gentry of Monroe will review her book "Mama and the Outlaw"; Mrs. Johnile C. Johnson of Delhi will talk on Writing as an Art. The parliamentary procedure team of the Oak Ridge High School chapter Future Farmers of America will be a feature for Federation Day.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. W. P. Smith and Mrs. H. A. Pipes, Jr., who showed film strips of interest to club women. The topics were: Stage Fright and What to do about it, Using Your Voice, and The Function of Gestures.

During the business session plans were begun for a Christmas lighting contest to replace the outstanding-yard-of-the-month award. The winmonths of club recess were reported as: July, A. B. Conger; August, Sam Conger; and September, Homer Flynn. The yard marker is to make an appearance again in the early spring.

Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Rolfe, hostesses served refreshments during the social hour. Those present were Mrs. J. G. Cabuk, Mrs. John Day, Mrs. J. E. Files, Mrs. S. L. Parks, Mrs. H. A. Pipes, Jr., Mrs. W. P. Smith, Mrs. H. E. Stevenson, Mrs. C. M. Williams, Mrs. S. P. Williams, Mr. W. P. Smith, who operated the projector, and the hostesses.

Rodeo In Dubach Set For Sept. 17

DUBACH, Sept. 11 (Special) — The town of Dubach will hold "Rodeo Appreciation Day," September 17, in connection with the fall rodeo which will be in progress that week end.

There will be a free barbeque on the afternoon of the 17th according to R. M. Enloe, mayor, and all are invited to share with the event.

The fall rodeo, sponsored by the Lions Club and the Rodeo Association, will officially get under way on Thursday the 16th with a parade through the town.

The rodeo this fall is expected to be the biggest and best of any rodeos held here yet, according to rodeo President H. F. "Buster" Deloney. There will be three big days of rodeoing with the events getting under way each evening at 8 p. m. The arena has been remodeled and decorated in a manner to make the place very attractive.

A prominent speaker is scheduled to address the assemblage at the barbeque, and dignitaries from parishes and towns in the vicinity have been invited to Dubach for this event, according to Mayor Enloe.

Shrine Club To Sponsor Circus Here Oct. 11-12

The Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club will sponsor a combined Bailey and Cristiani circus in Monroe on October 11 and 12, W. E. "Bill" Brooks and Leo Baer, committee members, announced yesterday.

In making the announcement of the forthcoming shows, the proceeds of which will go to Shrine charities, the committee members also expressed their hopes for heavy ticket sales.

"We plan to call on the merchants of this area to buy complimentary tickets for every child in northeast Louisiana," Brooks said, "as we want them all to see one or the other of the shows."

He explained that the merchants could use the tickets as tokens of appreciation for the business of their customers, presenting them to the customers with children.

Present plans call for the sale of about 10,000 tickets to the four shows, a matinee and night performance each day the circus is in Monroe.

Tickets can be obtained from Baer, Brooks, E. C. Paulas, Shrine president, Lt. Jim Daniels, secretary, or Leo Rogers, general chairman, they said.

The Shriners said they were planning to make arrangements with the schools to allow some of the children to go in the afternoons on school buses.

500 Workers On Churches Census Today

This afternoon beginning at one o'clock, approximately 500 workers will take to the streets to make a religious census of Monroe. These workers will come from the churches of Monroe representing all the denominations of the city. At the same time a like number will be at work in West Monroe. This census is being sponsored by the Twin City Ministerial Association and is to become an annual event.

The churches of West Monroe have taken an annual census at this time for the last three years and this year the churches of Monroe join with them.

This is to be an annual event. There will not be another census sponsored by the ministerial association for at least another year. In this way the people of the Twin Cities will not have to be giving information but once a year. This information will be available to all churches.

The names of members of local churches, and those expressing a preference for a local church, will be given to the one church. The cooperation of the people of the Twin Cities in this census will be appreciated.

Dr. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, is the chairman for the census. Mr. Bradley, educational director of the First Baptist Church, is the chairman for West Monroe. Leon Ivey, pastor of Temple Baptist is the chairman for Monroe territory.

Fertilize Now For Oct. Winter Grass

The "blustery" winds seem to be trying to dry up everything we've brought through this dry hot summer. Be sure to wash the dust off the foliage of your plants and the winds brought plenty.

In the Garden

So many of you seem to want something to do in the garden, now. Either this month or next you can fertilize your lawn. If the grass looks kind of washed out, you can use 8-8-8 which gives you more nitrogen than 5-10-5. Water this down well. In October you can plant your winter grass. There are two schools of thought on planting winter grass over St. Augustine. One group says do—one group says don't. I've found if you fertilize your lawn well several weeks before planting, winter grass does not interfere with the growth of St. Augustine.

Watch plants such as susanqua that have already set bud. If they get too dry, the buds will drop. I read in a garden magazine a good test of adequate watering. Place a tin can under the sprinkler. You can measure the amount of water in the can to see if you've left the sprinkler in that spot long enough. Of course, that test won't work with soakers.

The bulbs will be coming in the stores soon. You can get your ground ready for these, remembering that with the exception of old fashioned hyacinths and scillo, bulbs do best not planted in your shrubbery beds where they'll be mulched and watered.

I've just talked to a good gardener on the phone. He questioned fertilizing lawns in the fall. In fact he believes it's just a waste of fertilizer. Just try this once and see. The grass takes up this food in the fall, stores it in the roots and when the first warm day comes in the spring, out it comes a luscious green, just like you want it to be.

Another Visit

I've always wanted to visit Bellingrath Gardens in the summer. When the azaleas are in bloom they completely overwhelm me. So—we stopped by on our way home from Florida. The pink lilies were beautiful, but I was really disappointed that there were so few crape myrtles. Only a few water melon red and some white. None of the newer varieties.

Of course the garden is always beautiful. They use so many of the same plants we use here. There was lots of ivy and ajuga ground cover; periwinkle in white and lavender; many varieties of ferns; coleus and caladiums to brighten the dark shady places. They too, were losing azaleas on account of the drouth, even though they have an adequate watering system.

Awards

An impressive ceremony was the awarding of scholarships to high school graduate 4-H members on Wednesday. Congratulations to Doris Burnett and Ralph Kilpatrick who received this honor given by chain stores in the Twin Cities: These two 4-H members were judged as keeping the best record of their years' work. Indicative of the fine records kept by our Ouachita members, judges found Dorothy Russell such a close runner-up that she was given a $25 war bond. All three young people plan to attend college this fall.

Announcements

Tune in Thursday at 5:15 for the big cotton show. You'll see many of the new cotton materials and a fabulous new seat cover. Also, pretty girls wearing pretty clothes made of cotton. My regular show on Tuesday at 1:30 will be on "Good Grooming Means Good Posture."

For those who are calling in about classes, here is a tentative schedule: The tailoring class in January; the slip cover workshop in October; the drapery demonstration the last of this month. Watch this column for definite dates.

J. Gregory Conway, master of florist art, will be in Monroe, September 20 and 21, at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. The Monroe Garden Club is sponsoring this internationally recognized artist. The program runs like this: On Monday, the twentieth, there will one from 10 to 12, the other from 2 to 4. Each lecture will be three dollars. The clinic will be held on Tuesday the twenty-first and the fee is five dollars. Tickets are now on sale at Lane Wilson, Sears Garden Center and Standard Office Supply.

Sine off time. See you next Sunday.

While Junior is getting a lot of enjoyment out of wearing his fireman's hat or space helmet, he may also be picking up a lot of germs. Since it's probably made of plastic, be sure to snatch it away just long enough to sponge it clean, both inside and out.

Gregory Conway To Visit Monroe Sept. 20

Congratulations to the Flora Group! They won the high score for the month ending August 10th. The award was presented to Mrs. C. C. Lucky, president of the club.

This is the month all the garden clubs start their fall activities and the Monroe Garden Club is starting their year with the celebrated J. Gregory Conway — who is considered to be the last word in flower arranging. The public is invited to attend Mr. Conway's lectures which will be held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club on Monday, September 20th and Tuesday, September 21st. On Monday there will be a morning lecture from 10 to 12 and an afternoon lecture from 2 to 4, each on a different phase of flower arranging. On Tuesday morning, there will be a clinic, with each student making her own arrangement with her own materials under the supervision of Mr. Conway. The clinic will last three hours. Tickets are available at Standard Office Supply, Lane Wilson and The Garden Center.

The Welcome Garden Club will have as their first speaker, Mr. Jack Bagwell. His subject will be "Hibiscus."

Mrs. B. I. Berry visited the center and told of plans for the tri-parish fair and flower show. The dates are October 21, 22 and 23, in Winnsboro. The tri-parishes are Catahoula, Richland and Franklin. Also scheduled for October 21 is the Morehouse parish fair and flower show in Bastrop.

The Ruston Garden Club exhibited at the center this week and Mrs. John Lewis and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie judged the show. In the arrangement section, first place was awarded to Mrs. E. R. Hays for a most distinctive arrangement. In a soft green bowl Mrs. Hays arranged Opuntia (prickly - pear cactus) with a focal point of Sempervivum (hen and chickens.) The needle point holder was concealed by interesting rocks in desert tones.

Second place to Mrs. J. M. Pirkle. A most unusual arrangement was created by Mrs. Pirkle, with a three dimensional effect. Yucca foliage was used in the background and beautiful curved branches of pyracantha with orange berries outlined the design. Glossy magnolia leaves were clustered at the base of the arrangement and over the rim of the round tan container. Another beautiful arrangement by Mrs. Pirkle was a vertical design in a tall green bottle. Tall spikes of Johnson grass were used and a focal design of green caladium leaves.

Mrs. Asa Kiper Entertains Garden Club

The Wisner Garden Club held its September meeting in the home of Mrs. E. Asa Kiper on Friday, September 3rd. Co-hostess with Mrs. Kiper was Mrs. R. M. Hammons.

During the business session, Mrs. Knotts, the president, called for reports from the standing committees. Mrs. K. T. Warner, civic chairman reported a busy month in August when she and her committee did work improving the city park. The ways and means chairman, Mrs. E. A. Kiper, reported interesting plans which include a rummage sale September 11th, and a benefit party at the home of Mrs. R. M. Ward, with Mrs. W. A. Tucker, chairman.

The secretary, Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, read the correspondence which revealed the dates of Mr. Gregory Conway's lectures in Monroe on September 20 and 21. Also, the fifth district flower show school number one to be held in Ruston in October.

After these reports, the president gave a resume of her trip to Farm and Home Week at L. S. U. in August. She also appointed the staging committee for the Tri Parish Flower show to be held in connection with the Tri Parish Fair in Winnsboro on October 20 to 23. This committee includes Mrs. Allen Cruce, Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Mrs. D. R. Knight, Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. R. M. Brown, and Mrs. Rupert Scott.

At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. A. J. Ensminger, program chairman, presented Mrs. Rupert Scott who gave an interesting paper on "What America expects of its Garden Clubs" with special emphasis on the conservation of our trees.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following members and guests: Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mrs. D. R. Knight, Mrs. Wm. Feltus of Natchez, Mrs. Rupert Scott, Mrs. A. J. Ensminger, Mrs. S. Kenerly, Mrs. E. A. Kiper, Mrs. E. B. Knotts, Mrs. A. D. Moore, Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, Mrs. J. N. Richer, Mrs. R. M. Warner, Mrs. K. T. Warner, Mrs. S. L. Chamblee, and Mrs. Ina Gilbert.

Garden Club Has Meeting

FARMERVILLE — The September meeting of the Farmerville Garden Club was held on Thursday afternoon, September 2, at 4:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Dewey L. Barr with Mrs. W. C. McMurrian and Mrs. Ralph A. Gulley serving as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Guy Ludwig president, presided at the meeting and welcomed the following visitors: Mrs. Van Marsh, Mrs. Debbie Nettles and Miss Lillian Edwards of Baton Rouge.

The flower arrangements for the meeting were of dried materials and many lovely arrangements were on display. The blue ribbon was won by Mrs. A. C. Dykes; the red ribbon by Mrs. Fred Eldred; the white ribbon by Mrs. N. E. James and the yellow ribbon by Mrs. L. C. Allen on their outstanding arrangements.

In order to further the interest of the town in a beautification program the Garden club selects the outstanding block of yards as the "Block of the Month" and it was announced that the north side of Green street on Paradise Hill has been chosen this month. This block begins with the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meeks and ends with the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bass.

After a brief business meeting the president introduced the speaker, Mrs. . C. Dykes. Mrs. Dykes' discussion was on dried materials and arrangements made from dried materials. The discussion was interesting and informative as the different methods of drying er, Mrs. A. C. Dykes. Mrs. Dykes' flowers and materials were brought out. Mrs. Dykes stressed the point not to look on dried flowers as dead flowers—as a dead flower is cut from the plant after the life is gone and that to successfully dry flowers that they should be cut when the flowers are at their blooming peak. Many flowers can be dried to retain their lovely colors.

After Mrs. Dykes' discussion the meeting was turned over to the hostesses who served refreshments to the guests and members of the club.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Hot Summers Toughen Trees

The high temperatures and drought which met me when I returned to the South from Europe made me feel that I had been on the right track looking for drought resistant plants over the . That fuzzy leaved butterfly bush I wrote about back in the summer and that grey leaved senicio would be all right in our heat and droughts. The country all along the Mediterranean is as dry as a bone much of the time, and anything which will grow down there is good for drought if it can stand freezing. The English have tried out about everything they grow in the South of France. The English winters are much like ours with sudden drops of the thermometer after warm days. So anything from the Mediterranean which has lived through the English winters is usually good for the Southern United States. There is not enough hot weather in England to make some plants get tough enough to stand the winter, however, so we still have to try out some plants with which the English have not been successful.

Our hot summers in the South here toughen up trees and shrubs and get them ready for winter. We have found that some very choice trees and shrubs which do not succeed in England do perfectly well for us because they "ripen their wood" before Fall. Crape myrtle and dogwood are two perfect examples of this. Dogwood just will not set buds very often in England. Crape myrtle will bloom if they can get it through the winter, but the wood does not get tough enough to stand the cold, and the shrubs die to the ground every season unless they grow them on a wall where it is warm in winter and hot in summer. During the heat of our Septembers, perhaps it will help us gardeners to survive if we remind ourselves that the high temperature is doing some good to something

Here and there in garden magazines and publications during the past few years, there have been articles about saw dust for gardens. Traveling about over the South, you can see people hauling loads of the rich brown looking stuff to their yards and gardens. Since this column has been plugging for saw dust and chip mold to build garden soil, we must issue a third warning about using undecayed saw dust or woods mold. Unless your saw dust is completely decayed to the extent that you cannot even see that it once was wood, it is dangerous — really dangerous to dig it into your soil. You can put a one inch deep layer of it on top and leave it there as a "dust much" if you like. It must not be worked into the soil until it has rotted, and this will take nearly a year. The same thing applies to chip mold from old wood yards. Chip mold must be completely decayed. Sometimes it is impossible to take up chip mold at a wood yard without getting scattering pieces of bark in it. You can remove the bark if there is much of it and ignore it if there is only a little. The bulk of this material ought to be completely crumbly, however if you are going to dig it into the soil. If it is not rotten, then use it in a one inch layer on top as you would use undecayed saw dust.

We do not need to let this warning scare us off using really decayed saw dust and wood mold from wood yards. When they are rotten, they will build up soil just like Nature is doing it in the woods, only much faster. However, the bacteria in these rotten materials are hungry little creatures. They need nitrogen while they are putting the decayed saw dust or wood mold through the final stages of decomposition. Here is our second warning: You must mix a double handful of complete fertilizer with each bushel of either rotten saw dust or rotten wood mold before you dig them into your garden soil. If you do not do this, you will find your garden standing still if not going backwards in no time at all. The bacteria in the soil and in the saw dust or wood mold need everything they can find to eat. They will steal it from plants. Frequent fertilizings are needed until real compost has been formed. Your columnist has been starving one bed of plants in his experimental plots — not deliberately but because he used more wood mold in this bed than in the others. A little fertilizer once a month does not seem to be too much for such a bed. When the wood mold is finally turned into compost, all the nitrogen that was put on the bed will be returned to the soil by the bacteria, and the plants will thrive. Right now, they look rather puny.

1. CAN ANYONE BE UNBIASED ABOUT WHY HE FAVORS CERTAIN POLITICAL PARTIES? YES ☐ NO ☐
2. IS A CHILD DULL IF HE CAN'T READ AT AGE 6? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. MANY PEOPLE DEVELOP CERTAIN INTERESTS AT MUCH THE SAME AGE. TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. We are all—more or less—of the "Know Nothing Party"—the only honestly named party in our history. To some extent we are all mugwumps. The glory of democracy is that we govern ourselves by the majority opinion whatever it may be.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Children grow into reading readiness at different ages. Jean and Joan, age seven, were equally intelligent. Jean read at the 8½ year level; Joan, 6½. At nine, Jean read at 10½ level; Joan, at seven. Then suddenly, Joan reached reading readiness and in 18 months shot through four years. At 11, both were at the 11 - year level. Be concerned, never scold, but find the cause.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Apparently true. Italian psychologist Perugia found from testing 146 persons age 11 to 32 that interest in religion, morals, social life, literature, and work developed rapidly and continuously from 15 on. Artistic interest dropped at 13, then shot up again. Curiously, interest in adventure and history dropped rapidly after 15.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I know you preach that we are saved by faith, not by our works. How then do you explain those scriptures which say that we will be judged according to our works? G. K.

ANSWER: I think you are confusing two things. The Christian believer who exercises faith in Christ is saved from God's wrath and will not be judged for his sins in the last day. Such a person, as the Bible says, "cometh not into judgement, but has passed from death unto life." (John 5:24).

But for the Christian believer, thus saved and forgiven, there is a judgement of another kind. It is a judgement which concerns the quality of his life and service here in this world. It is to this that the Apostle Paul refers when he says, "we must all appear before the judgement seat of Christ: that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad." (2 Cor. 5:10).

This judgement is not the same as that of "the great white throne" referred to in Revelation 20:11. The former is a judgement of believers, the latter of unbelievers. The one is a judgement of service, the other a judgement of salvation. Those who have accepted Christ will be saved from the judgement of the great white throne — not because of their own works or merits, but because of the grace of God alone. But their works will come under review at the judgement seat of Christ, and the Bible teaches that faithful service for the Lord in this life will be rewarded in heaven.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Take exercise suited to your age and physical condition.

Add Years To Your Life And Life To Your Years

Many people who are not really ill take their lowered state of health for granted and are very stoic about standing the resulting petty discomforts which hound them; chronic fatigue, headaches, constipation, and many other uncomfortable but uncritical conditions. They just accept this as life! Well, it is life, but this is a awful compromise to make with vibrant living.

It might be helpful to refresh our minds concerning some of the main causes of death and also the physical and mental care essential to vitality and beauty. While the expectable life span has been greatly increased, the finest objective of progressive medicine today is to vitalize the years during which we live. It is not only a question of adding years to life but of adding life to the years during which we exist.

The Killers

As you probably already know circulatory disease is the number one killer with heart attacks carrying off more and more persons. Then come cancer and kidney disease fighting for their places. Tuberculosis, although conquered to some extent, still claims many victims each year. All this is true, to say nothing of the diseases which do not kill but which make life a misery; arthritis, for instance.

We do not yet know how to avoid all of these diseases but the fact that nutrition, and the strain and worry and complexity of modern living have been correlated with them, makes your daily habits loom most important. Research seems to indicate that a high level of health gives us some immunity to all diseases at all ages.

8 Rules

1. Get enough sleep and rest. High pressure living prepares the ground for disease, and leads to premature aging.

2. Get outdoors as much as you can. Stay in touch with nature and she will be healing.

3. Take some kind of exercise, but the sort which is suited to your age and physical condition.

4. Have periodic physical checkups, at least once a year, twice is better.

5. Do not overlook unusual symptoms. See your doctor immediately.

7. Stay busy and keep eager interests afloat. Nothing is so vitalizing as enthusiasm.

8. Last but not least by any means, eat for health. The difference between fine nutrition and fair nutrition can make the difference between fine health and fair health. Remember, too, that most people from middle age on, eat too much.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Pet," which may aid you in building new energy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 56 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

More In High School Enroll In St. Matthew's

St. Matthew's Parochial School, under the direction of the Daughters of the Cross, teaching Sisters who have their motherhouse in Shreveport, and who have been serving the schools of Louisiana for one hundred years, opened its doors last week with an enrollment of close to 300 in the elementary department, and with 114 registered in the high school division. The latter figure is the highest ever reached in the secondary department of the school since its inception as a school of St. Matthew's parish.

The Right Reverend J. C. Marsh, V. F., director and pastor of the local school expressed sincere satisfaction and appreciation in words of a welcome tendered the students in assembly this week. "You are the future citizens of your community," the Monsignor reminded the student body," and your present happy school days, the happiest days of your life, are the proving grounds whereon you prepare to take your place in life after school."

On this same occasion Father Marsh presented the school with a handsome plaque carrying the script of the United States Declaration of Independence, a gift of the local Knights of Columbus.

Mass of the Holy Ghost was offered in St. Matthew's Church during the week to beg God's blessings and guidance upon the incoming scholastic session. Students attended in a body.

'Man With A Million' Stars Gregory Peck

Mark Twain's single most famous short story, "The Million Pound Bank Note," forms the basis for "Man With a Million," Technicolor production starring Gregory Peck and opening today at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release.

"Man With a Million," was produced by John Bryan and directed by Ronald Neame. The strong supporting cast is headed by Jane Griffiths, lovely young English discovery, and such stalwarts of the British stage and screen as Ronald Squire, A. E. Matthews, Wilfred Hyde - White, Joyce Grenfell, Maurice Denham and Reginald Beckwith.

The screenplay was adapted from the Mark Twain story by Jill Criagie, and the chief cinematographer was Geoffrey Unsworth. The musical score, composed by William Alwyn, was conducted by Muir Mathieson.

Mark Twain wrote "The Million Pound Note" as a sort of comic valentine of affection for the English people. Twain and the English, despite the fact that, on the surface, they were poles apart in background and outlook, held each other in the most profound mutual esteem. On Twain's famous trip abroad (resulting in the priceless "An Innocent Abroad"), he was the recipient of unprecedented homage in England. And the regard the English felt for Twain was warmly returned by the author.

Although "Man With a Million" with its sly story of a penniless American who is launched on a series of fantastic adventures when he is given a million pound note by two eccentric Londoners, pokes fun at the English, it does so with a gentleness and a fondness. And the English, despite the fact that they are the butt of the joke, have always enjoyed it hugely.

"Man With a Million" was shot entirely on location in England. Among the famous London landmarks used for exterior location sites — to the delight of earlyrising Londoners — were the Treasury Building and Belgrave Square.

The tiny fur is going to be everywhere this winter. It will dress up simple suits, form collars to snap on and off cloth coats and warm bare shoulders in the evening. Not a large investment, but a big move for glamor.

A tired veil is inexcusable. Press it between layers of waxed paper, or replace it with new veiling from the five-and-ten.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

To The Dogs'

By CARL ESMOND
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, September 11 — Practically, just about everybody hears that antique bromide to the effect that "Hollywood is going to the dogs." Translated, of course, that means that motion pictures are becoming worse and even worse. In fact, that the movies are so low in entertainment calories these days that they're committing suicide.

This, of course, is not factual. Naturally, any film industry which turns out several hundred features each year is bound to make a number of inferior pictures. And Hollywood, certainly, is no exception to the general rule. I write in this vein after many years residence in Hollywood, and after having appeared in some of our better known pictures, notable "Dawn Patrol."

Despite some opinions to the contrary, the production of motion pictures is far from a manufacturing process. If you're engaged in making most types of commercial products, you tool up or make your moulds, or something approximating this procedure, and away you go. You may improve your techniques but your basic formula remains more or less intact.

However, in film production, it's entirely different. Each picture is an individual invention and, in a few instances, a work of art. There is no basic pattern to follow. A story may sound like a million dollars in script form, but it's a matter of tragic record that when it's put on the screen, it sometimes shapes up utterly different, despite the craftsmanship of experienced and expert writers, producers, directors and players. The entire process considerably resemsembles the production of stage plays and, of course, nobody can tell in advance of the actual box-office sale whether or not the show is going to be a hit or a flop.

A motion picture is pretty much a fragile and sensitive thing, especially when its story explores new areas in ideas. A multitude of critics may howl at this statement, but it is certainly accurate in cases where a producer tries to do something different on the screen. On the other hand, of course, it doesn't have much application to some action pictures, which often are based upon a tried and true formula.

Certain production elements almost invariably are dependable and more or less guaranteed against error. By that I refer to sets, photography, costumes and other ingredients which, by comparison with plot and direction, are practically invulnerable to any serious mistakes. As a matter of fact, some of the film industry's great and most expert craftsmen function in these phases of production.

But the story, casting and direction compose the elements which are sensitive and therefore more subject to unhappy results. No producer sets out to make a bad picture, especially in these days of inflated budgets. When one does come out that way, it nevertheless represents an honest and professional effort to make a production with wide audience appeal.

Critics of Hollywood too often compare its production problems with those of the Broadway stage. As a matter of fact, there is a vast difference. The people who write and produce shows on Broadway are slanting their productions at a relatively small group of patrons who, incidentally, often have more sophisticated tastes than movie audiences. Operating with budgets which are tremendously smaller than those of Hollywood, they can gamble without the same amount of financial involvement which confronts the motion picture producer.

It's a matter of sad record, that many a hit Broadway play, which Hollywood bought for some fabulous sum, has died ingloriously in movie houses throughout the country because its entertainment ingredients, while great for the most cosmopolitan city in the United States, did not pack any appeal for Joe and Mary Doakes in Bangor, Maine, or San Diego, California.

No, Hollywood is far from going to the w.k. dogs. Aided and abetted by such new devices as stereophonic sound and wide screens, motion pictures have taken on a new lease of life. No doubt people are staying at home to watch television, which is blessed with the virtue of accessibility and no auto parking, ticket and popcorn overhead, but really important film entertainment brings them out of their domiciles in huge groups. Whenever a truly big attraction plays our local theater, watch those crowds come out.

Television certainly is proving a stimulant to the movie makers. In offering new competition aimed at the public's tastes in intertainment, it persuades motion picture producers to exert every conceivable effort to turn out improved product.

Hollywood is gaining a new vitality which is certain to reflect itself in the entertainment quality of its product. It may encounter problems, but it has the brains and imagination to solve them effectively, I'm sure. I'll soon be opening with Kirk Douglas in "The Racers." Be seeing you then.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: Far be it for me to want you to discontinue your column as I love to read it, but it seems to me that if married couples would just sit and talk over their differences and try to see the other's point, there would be no problems at all. We have been married for six months and have talked over, and out, all of our differences; we have never raised our voices to one another. My husband brings his check home every week, he helps me with the housework when he is at home. He takes an interest in everything I do . . . our home life, our budget and our future plans. Our married friends warned us that marriage was no picnic but now we just laugh, for we feel we have the perfect marriage. I just wanted you to know that there are some couples without problems.—Beth S.

Uh-huh . . . I see what you mean. The perfect marriage . . . yeah, that is . . . well, that's nice. Married only six months? M-m-m-. . . yes; we most definitely do understand. And, . . . thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married nine years ago when I was 20. The first few years we were very happy. Then, after the baby came, my husband criticized me unmercifully saying I did not care for her in the right way. We argued for seven years, then I obtained a divorce. Because one of the things he always taunted me with that "no other man would have me" rankled, I married the first man who asked me, two weeks after the divorce. Now, I am desperately sorry. My present husband is good to me and my little girl but I can't forget my first husband, nor can our daughter. I feel I should never have rushed the divorce or the second marriage and that if I were not married again I would have a chance to get him back. Please advise me. — A Big Fool

So . . . you cut off your nose to spite your face and now you don't like the looks of things. I might add that I agree with you nom de plume. The only fair thing that you can now do is to be honest with your second husband and ask for release. Then see what you can do to win your first husband back again. No, you cannot see first if he will have you before you talk with and divorce the second husband because, 1. If your first husband is looking for revenge he can easily get it by telling you he will come back to you and then refusing to do so when you are free and, 2. If you really do not love husband No. 2, you should ask for release on that count with no "ifs, ands or buts" concerning the matter of gaining or not regaining husband No. 1.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of Morning World.)

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

"My Three Angels," the first production of the 1954-55 theatre season is scheduled to open October 14. Even though we had hoped to bring you a list of the complete cast today, we are still awaiting word from the director, who is if we may say so, still hopefully looking for more men to try out for the seven male roles in the hilarious comedy.

Open readings for the play were closed on Friday evening with still only a partial list of the ten parts lined up. However, anyone interested in trying out for the play may still do so by getting in touch with director Feuerstein at the theatre, telephone 3-4263.

CHATTERBOX . . . Ex-president of Little Theatre Frank Breese is scheduled to leave for Boston, Mass., sometime next week. He will sojourn i that famous old city for several months while he prepares for a step-up with his company. He probably will return about Christmas time. The many good wishes of all his friends go with him nd something nice couldn't happen to a nicer guy . . . When we checked Frank's office to get the preceeding report, a very familiar voice answered the telephone but caught unaware it took your snooping reporter several minutes to realize it belonged to one of our favorite Little Theatre workers, Arthur McKnight . . . A. O. Evans, Little Theatre treasurer, has returned from Foundation hospital in New Orleans . . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Kendrick and daughter, Helen, of Homer, La., are visiting with Elizabeth and Frances Langford this week end . . . Board member Mrs. A. L. Harrington was scheduled to return this Saturday from Chicago where she had spent the second half of her summer vacation . . . Three items to remember are; the director is still looking for more men; "My Three Angels" setting will need some old fashioned window shutters to carry out it's tropical scene (P. S. a little bird told us that Arthur McKnight is the owner of some very authentic ones from an old home in New Orleans); Little Theatre workers are also in search, for a new dining table to replace the old one in the coffee room . . . Oh! yes and a fourth one is, redecoration of the theatre still goes on. Ex-president of Little Theatre, Julius Cahn and Phil Saragusa were out working Friday evening. Now that the director has a comfortable and attractive apartment over the theatre, it is convenient for anyone to drop in for a little work session anytime they have the time to spare.
